Update: Expanded Presence ...

Kuthumi

The very exciting news is that both events we spoke of will be moving forward. We are holding back the location of the event the first week in December because it is one of the world's troubled areas and six very dedicated, very brave organizers are under close observation. They are moving forward anyway. And as they move forward, we will move forward and join them. I would ask Sho, please, for a few words about this event.

Sho

Thank you, Master Kuthumi.

I would say first that Master Kuthumi is working the community side of events and doing a great deal of behind-the-scenes coordinating for us as well as simply holding things together and we appreciate that.

We are discovering that when we get this close to walking side-by-side with humanity, things are not quite so simple and clear-cut as they were when our perspective was more distant, which is to say that as we get closer to being on the ground, we are discovering difficulties that our human partners have been explaining to us all along. Our concerns were more broad scale and now we are faced with the nitty-gritty and we smile. We are very deeply grateful to our human partners for their patience with us and their dedication to move forward. It has been a long time since we have walked side-by-side, facing the same challenges that our human partners face daily.

All that being said, we move forward because they move forward. We move forward together and this is a very rewarding experience. We look forward to successful meetings, for the first event – even in the midst of political unrest – has taken on such expectation from humanity's standpoint that there will be multiple meetings. After that, we move on and we focus on the London event.

Kuthumi

Thank you, Sho. I am happy to report that the preliminaries for the London event are well underway. This will be an invitation-only event. It will be held in a private venue. We have high expectations of the London event inasmuch as the London organizers are not under nearly so much political pressure as are the brave organizers of the first event. So in many ways the London event will be easier. It will certainly be easier to publicize because there will not be the political issues to be concerned about that do exist with the first event.

These are simply the realities of the civilization for the human family of Earth as it exists today. And what a contrast it will be one, two, three years from now as the new civilization gains a true foothold and the final vision is indeed before people and more and more sign on and realize what civilization can be for the human family of Earth. They will look back and wonder at the difficulties that there were facing the organizers of this very first event.

All of humanity, whether they know it or not, and the Community and our Off-Earth Allies owe all of these very brave organizers a debt of gratitude. They are very dear to our hearts. They are the kind of leaders that will emerge throughout the world, the kind of leaders we will contact and work with and offer our services to as humanity goes about building a new civilization.

Year-end brings a series of celebrations. And amid these celebrations will be the second main event that signals the return of elder brothers and sisters who have been gone a very long time from open, side-by-side daily contact with the human family of Earth. This is a celebration on our part and we will keep you posted so that you can celebrate with us and hopefully find time in your festivities to send a welcome our way once the official events have been accomplished and completed.

We look forward to the messages we will be able to bring you in 2014, for they will be of good news.

Thank you.

Master Kuthumi

The Panelist Group ...

Our vision of the new Earth must be most intriguing to you, dear readers. So what is that vision? What is the current status of this planet ... how does it appear to us and to those representatives of humanity who are conscious of us, conscious of the Divine Plan?

Well, let's say this much: humanity has come a long way since the fall of Atlantis. It has had its ups and downs. At times it reached peaks of awareness that were promising for us to observe but then those peaks could not be sustained, they could not become the default consciousness of society at that specific time.

The reason is relatively simple: there were not enough incarnated souls around who were either born with a higher vibratory rate, which translates into higher consciousness, or souls who were able to develop a higher consciousness to assist the planet as a whole in becoming more aware, more conscious, more cohesive.

This hurdle has now been overcome. Over the last 50 to 100 years, more souls have incarnated who had and still have a higher consciousness or are able to work on achieving a higher vibratory rate. Both groups are comprised of people willing to bring about change, including the no-sayers, the finger-pointers, the activists and the whistle-blowers on this planet.

Planet Earth's inhabitants are growing up ... they are waking up ... they are ready to look deeper and face facts.

It is an intrinsic process of evolution that consciousness is rising and expanding at this time, but it has to happen in its own way, at its own pace, with its own ups and downs, its injustices and its victories. It is a process.

You have reached a milestone inasmuch as you have reached the critical mass of souls on this planet who are ready, willing and committed to taking on the next step of humanity's evolution, souls who are ready to let go of past knowledge, priorities and values and to embrace knowledge, priorities and values that have been hitherto lost or hidden.

You have reached a milestone and we congratulate you all.

And although we are fully aware that it is still a Herculean task for you to accept, acknowledge and work with the new awareness and its revelations, we are looking forward to the moment when together we can reach out to each other easily, to see, hear and embrace one another, to a time when there are no borders, no limitations, no restrictions, nor any false information about us and you that keeps us apart.

So, what then are the services we can offer humanity?

It is a portfolio of services that we are planning to offer you. Key to everything that we have planned is our introduction to humanity – or better our re-introduction to humanity. We need to have you feel comfortable with us first. We need to know how you will react to our emergence. We will be as gentle as possible but also firm in our explanations and interactions with you. Once we have established an amicable rapport, our joint work will begin.

There is information about this planet that needs to be revealed so that humanity can embrace its origins, its talents, its destiny and its long-lost relatives. We will be the bridge-builders who assist you to understand and reclaim your birthright.

Once you understand your birthright, society on this planet will want to undergo a complete change. No stone will be left unturned. Each sector of life will be enhanced as humanity grows together, behaving as one entity that is the rightful caretaker of this planet. Awareness. Cohesion. Oneness. These are the attributes that you will enjoy as parts of the new Earth's society.

Our joint work will touch the educational system right from the beginning. The medical, scientific and political arenas will be working closely with us and our allies to help alleviate symptoms of pain and destruction, chaos, contamination and turmoil. Scientists from many disciplines will benefit from the transfer of knowledge that we intend to provide. The socio-economic infrastructure of this planet will strive for renewal – a topic that seems to be long overdue. And of course, there is more ... much more.

We wish to share and return knowledge and wisdom to humanity that was once part of life on this planet. We wish to be looked at as your elder siblings and friends whom you can trust and turn to in a crisis – who will hold you, encourage you, guide you and love you unconditionally.

We are aware that there may be groups who are against us because of fear or misinformation about us and the Divine Plan that is unfolding through our presence. Allow those groups time to come to know us. Our door is open always. We are your friends and family ... we are those you lost contact with a long time ago. We are here to help. We are committed to assist humanity to take good care of Mother Earth – a great, wonderful and loving being that is our friend too – and to give guidance for a new era on this planet, an era where all beings will flourish in peace and harmony. We are on the brink of that era now. It is up to humanity to take the next step. We are ready to be at your side to assist and guide you in the creation of a new Earth.

With appreciation to our readers,

Ken'u ...

With gratitude I take this opportunity to speak to you again, our dear readers.

As you know, I am the head of the Stellar Council working closely with the Community of Masters. We have watched the development of humanity, discussed plans for interaction and ways of collaborating with humanity. We are so very close to making ourselves officially known to you and starting our work with you all.

The new Earth is the term we like to use for what is going to unfold shortly based on your welcoming and accepting our reappearance.

It is this new Earth and its new civilization that makes us excited as we have good reason to believe that humanity is now able and willing to listen to and contemplate the possibilities in the vision we offer, as well as our aspiration to assist you in reaching the next step in your evolution on this planet called Earth. I know in my heart that you are ready for that next step.

So, what is our vision? It has many aspects and facets. The key to everything is your willingness to embrace our assistance, the teaching we plan to offer you, the knowledge that is waiting for you to reclaim.

In the forefront of our vision is partnership, your openness to understand the reasons behind our reappearance and the help that we are planning to offer. We will not impose anything on anyone. We honor free will. However, those of you who are the bold forerunners of the new civilization will be the ones with whom we will interact with most to get our messages across. We will work with those volunteers and start establishing a strong, stable and loving foundation, a relationship that will hopefully become the basis for all of humanity to expand their consciousness to higher realities, show the willingness to embrace change and finally demonstrate acceptance that we are all One, which would translate into peace on Earth.

Our vision is to embark on a new approach for working with humanity – we call it the approach of unified team work. We, you and we, are a team. We are connected with everything and everybody, the so-called good things and the so-called bad things. We are connected. The moment you can see or perceive what we see, you will want to tell others. This is the multiplier effect. Those who will see through our eyes and have our vision of planet Earth will assist us in spreading the information, the knowledge, the love that we have waiting for you all.

Our vision of the new Earth is a place where we work hand in hand with you. We are coming to share with you a new understanding of who you truly are and of your innate talents and skills, an understanding of how each of you is part of the network of souls. We will show you the interconnectedness of everything and everybody. Once your own vision of this planet has been heightened, you yourselves become the building blocks of the new civilization.

There will not be an invasion or a mass landing from our side. For and with those of you who are welcoming us, we wish to establish a solid contact and a trustworthy relationship. We are willing to share knowledge that will heal problem areas of this planet so that Mother Earth can ascend with all her inhabitants.

It is a major piece of unified team work that we would like to embark on with you. To become a unified team takes training, commitment and perseverance in harmony, putting the team first and the individual second. This new style of collaboration requires a lot of personal change and the willingness to work at it until we become a unified team.

Our vision of the new Earth has humanity at its center – a new type of humanity with expanded and raised consciousness. We are ready to offer you assistance and tools to get to the new vibratory rate that is required to herald the start of the new era.

As has been said before, the moment humanity's consciousness is raised, Mother Earth, our dear friend, can and will heal and joyfully continue her journey towards ascension.

We see more and more of the light that this planet emits. We notice more and more souls on this planet who are able to work on increasing their vibratory rate, which is very promising for the work we wish to start with you. We envision teaching those of you who are interested in learning how you can increase your frequency, maintain this frequency and become stable nodes in a high-frequency network around this planet.

There is so much we plan to share with you – information on techniques that will enhance your private life and assist humanity as a whole. We wish to be seen as your partners, your trusted friends who are pleased to give you guidance and share valuable information with you.

You are our vision.

You are our focus.

You are the center of our unified team approach.

Do you understand the importance of what I have just said?

“Project Earth” is about to start with you on board, our dear readers. The time has come. The Divine Plan for this planet can take the next step with humanity’s consent. We are ready to give assistance.

Thank you for allowing me to share my thoughts with you.

It is no secret that Mother Earth is going through a great transition at this time. Many even refer to it as a sacred initiation. And this will have lasting and profound effects – affecting Mother Earth and all of her kingdoms, visible and invisible to the human eye, mineral, plant, animal and human. It is essentially the dawning of a new time, a new civilization, and indeed a new Earth, a new planet.

There are many aspects to this transformation – many aspects, many changes for all of Earth's kingdoms. But I would talk about one of the main characteristics of this change, this initiation, this new planetary life, and that is that the planet and all its kingdoms will become more and more soul-infused. This will be the characteristic of the new age, of the new Earth: soul-infused.

And as this hallmark becomes more and more apparent, this planetary life will become more soul-infused because more and more changes are becoming apparent and opening the door to other "soul-infusements," to use such a word, occurring. Eventually, this planet and its societies will appear almost unbelievably different, and this is why you have termed this new epoch for this planet the Golden Age.

What is life, how will it be lived differently when it is soul-infused? When the soul not only permeates but directs all of its beings into their greater becoming? Well, you can imagine some of the betterments for the human kingdom for example. Where there is soul, there is love and there is light, and so of course much of the violence and the more lowly emotional states will gradually clear. Pollution will abate, pollution of all sorts, including pollution of the emotions and the thoughts.

Where soul infuses, society changes. Imagine a society where education is built on understanding the principles of the soul and how it works out through each individual. And the needs of each individual being soul-based, being respected as soul-based, will lead to a completely different individualized form of education that there is much technology to serve. The fields of healing, fields of psychology, fields of societal development, all these of course will benefit immensely from the power of the soul and the soul gripping its various vehicles, humankind and nature as well.

There will be, with a greater concentration of soul energy, an expansion of the arts, of course, of the sciences – everything rushing towards a higher and higher dimension and causing sweeping changes to this effect. All of art will be transformed, all of architecture and design, all of travel, all of nature

... all of them reflecting more and more of their true beauty, their true goodness, their true glory.

With this comes the development of the higher and higher faculties of the soul, the development of the intuition and its whole unfolding realm. And with this as well, the fostering of new relationships with beings who are not now attainable to the human senses, beings within the sphere of the soul's comprehension, understanding and feeling, and thus the renewal of many aeons-old relationships that will surprise and awe you immensely as they unfold like fairy tales come true.

Aiding this will be the rush for a new breed of souls to incarnate, for their time has come, a time when they will be understood, where it will be safe for them to radiate their particular soul quality as a great group, a cluster of light on this planet. And with these soul-infused beings, and with the beings that they will then relate with – and I mention beings from the devic kingdom, for this kingdom is also the building kingdom for this earthly planet and it too will have a great expansion of its concrete presence being felt in this realm.

And as the quality of soul grows on this planet, as the pollution abates of all types, as peace begins to overtake many troubled places in the world today, Mother Earth will heal, will heal her wounded body, with the wisdom she has in great measure to do this. And so the weather will calm and nature will be on a healing course, again bringing forth the soul of nature as well and all the many benefits you can imagine from this.

Technologies will be found, will be given, as the inhabitants of this planet prove that they are ready to handle them for the good of all and in Oneness. And these technologies, working with the forces of nature, will as well be part of a great societal change, the incoming of this Golden Age.

These are but the sketchiest points of this great transformation but think of your families, your human families, your nature families, your planetary families, all of them with the quality of soul shining through, irradiating the life of this planet and bringing it into its true and innate being as the new Earth.

Greet the dawn, greet the day, greet your friends old and new. Greet the love of your very own heart and soul. Say hello to the new Earth.

Mother Mary ...

Let me add a few comments in a slightly different direction. I too have been very interested in how humanity is progressing toward its goal of building a new civilization and what humanity needs to understand if they are going to create a truly successful society. I believe that if one looks carefully at the past, it will be evident that up until only a few hundred years ago, there was very little concern of people one for another.

Those who had the privilege of being leaders often abused those they were supposed to be serving. And too often, those who were doing the work of growing the food for the population and caring for the animals and working with the plants, too often those who were serving in such ways were so taxed by their day-to-day labor that they had little or no time to think about their proper relationship with the other kingdoms on Earth. Yes, considerable progress has been made over time but to a great extent, humanity still does not understand the concept of service.

It is service to one another but also service to the whole that I am talking about, and yet even conceiving of what right service means seems to be a task that many would like to avoid completely. What is needed in the new civilization is surely a better or more complete understanding of the role of service.

Everything throughout the universe is structured so that the more experienced and those with the higher degree of ability and the higher degree of knowledge are always there to serve those who have not yet reached the evolutionary point of those doing the serving. Service is the one universal principle that runs from top to bottom, the most important law, one that all conscious creatures must obey to the best of their abilities.

That said, it is important to point out that just offering service is not enough. It must be service to the best of your abilities, service that comes from your highest and most evolved abilities. It is not sufficient for those with much talent to serve others with only a small percentage of their gifts. They must serve fully and effortlessly and be consciously aware that they are giving their fullest possible service. As people transition individually into the new civilization, they must always remain aware of who they are, what their talents are and how they can apply this knowledge to best effect and serve as many others as possible.

All humanity, from the most talented and most powerful to the lowliest and most lonely on this planet, must search for and identify what talents lie within and how they can apply these gifts to the greater purpose of all. This will not be easy, and already we Masters know that many will resist. Eventually, all will see the great wisdom in this Law of Service. Every human soul is fully conscious that its purpose is to serve and every human soul seeks to contact the lower personality it is guiding and teach it the importance of service.

The Venetian Master ...

As you know, I am an artist, and as an artist, I approach this topic with great relish and joy, this topic of a new Earth. They say that beauty is in the eye of the beholder. I would say a new Earth is also in the eye of the beholder. It is in your eye as a beholder, for you have eyes to see and begin creating the new Earth.

And I would have you have fun with this, and enjoyment, for this brings so much added tone, a heightening of the vibration. I would have you play with your visioning, with your seeing the new Earth by casting fresh eyes on that which surrounds you, at having instances of beauty make themselves visible to you, remove their veils for you, and shine their inner beauty upon your heart so that you are astounded, so that it takes your breath away when you realize what you are seeing now that you may not have seen before. In other words, I would have you look with new eyes upon this new Earth and even make a game of it. Notice things that bring you delight, maybe even awe – some noble feeling as you go about your day.

If you like, as I would do, notice the particular quality of color around you. Perhaps notice it in general, or perhaps pick a color to get better acquainted with, to notice more, to have more of a relationship with. You could start with your favorite color now or from your memories as a child. This is a playful exercise, one whereby you can stretch your vision and your imagination and your happiness in life.

If not colour, then pick things that appeal to you. Look with fresh eyes upon the faces around you, faces of your loved ones, of your children or your friends. See again how they once delighted you and can do still in the blink of an eye, your eye.

See with new eyes and create the new world, the new Earth, the new planet. For each set of eyes is a mirror of the soul. Each set of eyes can meet the soul in every other being, in every other form of being. It just takes a little practice.

So I enjoin you: be light of heart, be soft of eye and consciously enjoy being part of creating a new Earth. Have fun with it. See where it takes you. Let yourself be reminded now and then to see with new eyes. This can happen with the seasons as well if there are seasons where you live, with the changes in Mother Nature wherever you live. And with the changes you may encounter through travel. Imagine seeing everything in a new light like a traveller, free as a traveller ...

Enough said. I believe you get my point and may like to try out this little exercise of seeing the world with fresh new eyes. Give it a try. See where it takes you and enjoy.

Thank you.

Sho ...

I am standing here, smiling.

I am so very excited about this opportunity to finally be known as one of the long-lost friends working as a bridge-builder between humanity and ourselves, the Community of Spiritual Masters and their Off-Earth Allies.

I am excited because my vision is to assist in providing the platform for the new Earth to grow out of, for humanity to find its center, its strength, its power and its enlightenment.

I am excited to share my vision with you all ... not only today but working continuously hand in hand alongside those who are similarly enthusiastic in the long run. We will work together on many, many things.

But as it is part of my assignment to be a provider of the energetic platform to allow constructive collaboration to take form and shape, my vision of the first phase of interacting with you to create this new Earth, this new civilization, is to assist you to get onto your path and walk steadily and with joy toward the new era that is about to unfold.

My vision is to support you, individually and in the groups that are forming, to understand the magnitude of what is going to shift on this planet. To do that you – each of you – needs to be willing to let go of old information, of past conditionings that you all have experienced and to create space for new information to sink in, new information for you to look at and try out.

I am supporting you – each of you who is willing – to have the inner strength to clean your memory bank of beliefs and disbeliefs, of questionable values, moral codes and practices, of prejudices and condemnations, of mental, emotional and spiritual blockages and restrictions, of everything that is not in support of your personal systemic growth so that you can reach your full potential as a member of the cosmic family.

My vision of the new Earth is to be at your side to give you the energetic balance that is required to interact with us whole-heartedly, and to maintain this energetic balance and focus on the new civilization.

You may wonder what this energetic balance is all about. Be assured that it is very important for a soul incarnated, living in and affected by the dense physical of your day-to-day lives in this dimension of planet Earth to keep its balance, to be peaceful, supportive, loving and focused on the Divine Plan.

We are here to provide you with knowledge about yourselves and this planet, about your relationship to us and other beings, about the origin of mankind and the Divine Plan. For you to perceive each detail correctly, you need to be energetically balanced so that you are able to digest, process and absorb this information and then use and implement it accordingly.

Your current concept of the world will most likely turn upside down. You will experience a challenge to your ego, your "comfort zone" that resists anything new, any changes that are needed for you to spiritually grow and blossom. You may find yourself surrounded by people you call family and friends, people you love and have trusted so far, who cannot understand you anymore and question your sanity.

The new Earth needs people to wake up, have courage, stand up and know 100% within themselves that the world, this planet, is awakening and changing, and that this change is for the better and long overdue.

I assist in providing the platform for this new Earth, which is to say the platform for its awakening to take place. Providing the platform means to create the space energetically where a constructive, balanced, positive encounter followed by cross-dimensional collaboration can take place. This is important to understand.

My vision of the new Earth is therefore two-fold: firstly, to assist in its creation by providing the energetic platform and secondly – once the ground work is complete, the foundation is laid and the energetic balance is in place and anchored firmly in each living creature on this planet – secondly, to assure that the new civilization has a solid foundation out of which to evolve and blossom, I will be sharing my knowledge of energy work with you to ensure sustainability of the new Earth in the time to come.

I have been your friend for a long time. You have not noticed me but I have been with you always, standing by your side, watching and observing the evolutionary path that your soul and humanity as a whole have chosen to take. My hands were bound by karmic law not to interfere at times that were demanding and critical. But now the time has come that you and I can officially meet again as friends who lovingly start working closely together on the development of the new Earth and its civilization.

I am excited. I hope you are as well. I am looking forward to listening to your vision of the new Earth, your desires, your dreams. We will exchange ideas. We will build this new Earth together. Our approach will be that of friends working together as One.

The moment approaches when our open collaboration will begin. I am more than joyous about this opportunity that I have so long been waiting for.

In loving gratitude to you all,

Sho
(from the Pleiades)

Lord Maitreya ...

The purpose for our long and devoted involvement with humanity is at last coming to the fore. We have plied over your development for eons, waiting, watching and guiding where and when it was, by law, permitted.

We, by our very nature, are acquainted with a larger body of knowledge than is any group or individual in humanity. We have walked the path before you, we have gained our insights and filled our positions through the normal evolutionary process that humanity is itself going through now. But as those who have gained a foothold on just what is expected and planned for humanity and the planet Earth, we see with eyes far more broadly focussed than yours. We hear with ears far more attuned than yours and we assess information with an understanding more complete than yours could possibly be, given your status on the evolutionary path.

It is only natural that we give to you, humanity, what is ours in abundance and ease to share. We quite simply have and understand information pertinent to your situation that you do not have or understand. We feel obligated to reveal this information and obligated by our relationship to you to help you deal with this information. You ask why? It is our bounden relationship to you that compels us to be here on guard to help, to guide, to teach, to offer assistance in any way humanity is willing to accept it that is within the laws of nature.

We have our boundaries and we respect yours, but we do have information that will give you a recognizable advantage to achieve your goals and solve your problems ... an advantage that you do not have as yet. It is not set in stone just what we will do, only what we can do. Humanity must decide what fits their schedule. As time goes on and humanity accepts some of our services, we can offer more to your advantage. For now, we prefer to keep it simple and clear.

Our guidance is forthright and it is omniscient. We understand the complete workings of the nature of things and can foresee outcomes with deep insight and far reach. While we are unlimited in our perceptions, what and how each decision is best for humanity we leave for you to decide. As is your right and by law of nature, you must declare these decisions for yourselves, but we can help by providing you with a more complete picture of the options and the outcomes of those decisions. Our job is simple.

I am, as many know, a Master of the energies that have much to do with providing humanity with guidance regarding harmony and balance in all that they do. Therefore, let me say that there is a great need in humanity at this time for harmony and balance as it is about to transition into a new civilization on planet Earth. Humanity must also create some sense of balance and harmony within this current old world so that humankind can take the next step forward.

The next step forward for mankind will be to realize that it has the ability to leave behind the chaos, the uncertainty and the fears of the past. Humans need not take any of these old society trappings into the new civilization they are preparing to build. Instead, all must open their minds to what could be since that will become what is. Thus, what will emerge for humanity will be a world in greater balance and harmony than anything mankind has ever seen on this planet.

All of us, from those of us who guide humanity down to the lowest life forms on this planet, will be greatly affected by the new energies that are pouring into this world at this time. It is these same energies that are encouraging the human element to develop a greater understanding of the importance of harmony and balance.

These new, higher energies are coming in with a greater potency and flowing in at an ever-increasing rate. Humanity is beginning to sense this fact. As we Masters begin to offer the leadership of humanity new directions and new options and ideas, people will quickly begin to grasp that these new ideas are the building blocks for creating a new civilization.

There will be a natural balance in the new directions that humanity can comprehend, perhaps for the first time on this planet. Humanity has struggled and learned quite a bit already about the importance of harmony and balance in the creation of a better world for all. However, humanity's efforts have not yet reached a point where most people can fully grasp how much further humanity can take these ideas and how much transformational work is yet to be done.

You have been told many times that it is humanity who must do the work in building the new civilization. This is true but my companions and I in the Community of Masters and our many friends who have come to assist us will make you more and more aware of how much you can achieve.

The new Earth civilization will amaze everyone since it will outline how the mind, body and soul of each human can begin to cooperate in creating a more perfect human being. The ancient struggle between the soul and its personality continues but humanity is now applying the mental plane more effectively and thus is learning how to better deal with this age-old conflict.

Still, this new awareness is in its infancy and the majority of humans on this planet have not yet developed a link between their soul and personality. They have yet to learn who they are since they have not yet met and cooperated with their soul, their true self. This is the cause of much suffering. The linking of soul and personality will now begin to happen at a faster rate, leading ultimately to unity within each human being in incarnation.

It is this new education concerning the inner unity of each individual being that will prepare the human race to understand the importance of unity, harmony, balance and cooperation amongst all human souls so that all can achieve greater perfection at everything they do on this planet. To that end I stand by, willing and ready to help, and I wait for humanity to invite me in so that I can assist in helping you to discover your true selves.

Serapis Bey

We happily engage in the task of helping humanity to build your new vision of a renewed Earth civilization. You must know that you cannot continue on your present course. Should that be the case, strife will indeed tear you apart and leave you helpless to instill a positive outcome. Much suffering will prevail. We hope to avoid the worst of this situation by advising you on a course of action that will mitigate the chaos that would ensue from poor choices.

We are capable of seeing the outcome of choices with an eye far-reaching. We are capable of understanding deeply entrenched problems and suggesting viable pathways to resolve and correct their outcomes. We have many skills in diplomacy and in creatively solving problems momentous in size. Our will is to serve humanity to their greatest need. And that need is now. So we are here now.

We will endeavor to be available to guide you in your quest to build and renew, to restructure and re-tailor all facets of earthly life and existing institutions. Humanity is sacred to us, your brethren. We cannot fathom an existence without our human brothers, nor can we fathom not offering our hand to guide you through this great time of need.

We have been observing you for many an age, for reasons too numerous to recount. We are simply your distant and caring family – distant in location, but not distant in the heart. Your success in navigating this change in your evolution is paramount to us, so it is very important that it unfold as best it can.

We can only prepare you so much. The rest you must do yourselves, but we feel that with our knowledgeable guidance, you can make the choices that cause the least amount of chaos and suffering. Should we offer any less assistance, we would not be carrying out our pledged decree to be at your side in your time of need. We truly care for the plight of humanity, our younger brethren, and strive to help you.

Thank you.

It is indeed a privilege to be speaking at the close of the one year so near to the beginning of another. Now, old year and new year are strictly arbitrary delineations, for the cycle continues and who is to say, in any cycle, that this is the beginning and this is the end?

Thus it is with a new Earth. You will see changes through any cycle and with the new Earth there are changes. What, then, makes this new Earth actually and truly new?

Think about something new – a new job, a new flower blooming in your garden, a new article of clothing. What makes it new? There have been jobs and flowers and articles of clothing before. Well, one of the things that makes this job or flower or article of clothing new is your relationship with it.

Let us take the job. Is this a job that did not exist before? Or is it a job that was held by someone else before and is now open? In either case, the job is new to you even though it may be a very well-established job per se. One could say the same thing for an article of clothing. It might be new to you, but it might have been used by two other people before it comes to you. So I ask, is the new year really new?

That is up to you. It is your relationship with anything, your attitude toward it that makes it new. The new year will soon to be here as noted on most calendars – we are not going into a population study to determine whose new year begins when and for what reason, but that in and of itself would be interesting. So let us say that the end of an old year is the closing out of one chapter and the beginning of another. And yet there is continuity as you bridge from one to the other.

You might see a new beginning in this new year, a chance to start over, a chance to change, a chance to improve. Or this might be just another day for you. So you see, it is the relationship between you and this event or this article of clothing or this job that makes it truly new. I want you to remember that, because what this means is that you have a role to play and a vested interest in creating something and having it be new.

I would now like to focus on what is new and what isn't within the context of cycles. You have a flowering shrub and there are blooms on this shrub, flower buds that emerge. As the seasons cycle, if you are in a location where seasons do cycle, this flowering shrub will have its buds and it will have its blooms and it will go into a period of hibernation. Now when this shrub emerges from its period of hibernation, are those flower buds new? It is the same shrub in a different cycle, but the shrub has had buds before. There have been blooms before, perhaps many, many cycles and many, many blooms. What makes anything about this budding and blooming new?

A child seeing a flower on this shrub for the first time finds it new. The adult might find it just another flower.

Unless you, as an incarnated being, remember a very great many past lives, you have not seen the cycle that Mother Earth is entering. You have not seen or experienced anything similar. Now, that is one condition for making something new. And yet, just as it is a relationship that creates newness, it is your relationship with this change that will truly make it new and offer an opportunity for a fresh start. That is what is happening between you and the new Earth.

This new Earth is coming in and developing a new vibrational capacity. Every dimension associated with Earth is developing a new vibrational capacity ... with the possible exception the human kingdom.

However, as this year ends, the seeds are being sown for something truly new to those who are incarnate, for in this new Earth you will have new friends. The representatives from the Community of Masters will be walking among you and the representatives of those like me who come from off Earth will be walking among you, and we would be your friends.

This is only one indicator of one aspect of a new Earth, and how you welcome us sets a direction for what will evolve in this new Earth. You and your current friends and those you lead without knowing you are leading by the example you set, are all creating a new Earth. And the "new" starts with relationships.

We very much want to be part of the relationships that you establish as you create this new Earth. We have much to offer, we believe. We have stories to tell to entertain you, we have experience that we call wisdom that we can offer you. We can share with you what we have learned and we can share with you what the vast majority of human families across the cosmos understand to be shared truths about the way the cosmos works. No, we are not talking what you would call physics. At best you might call it metaphysics. And what will be new is when you realize how much is shared that you never suspected.

All this is opening in the new Earth as this year ends and another year begins. The relationships that you build with the year that is coming, with the friends who are coming, with the truths that are coming, all this is yours. It can be new, a fresh start ... and it is coming. A change in vibrational frequency is coming. It has begun. It will continue. You can make it an exciting challenge and opportunity to express the incredible inherent creativity of the human family on this planet to create an environment where everyone has an opportunity to grow spiritually, an opportunity to understand what is shared with human families across the cosmos and hopefully to understand, then, what you share with the human families across the street, on the other side of town and on the other side of this world.

The Earth will be different. The dimensions will be different, but I would maintain that whether or not all this is new, with everything that being new means in terms of an opportunity to shine and to feel good and to start over, this is up to you and the relationships you choose to establish with these changes.

We, those of us from off Earth, do hope that you will number us as new friends and that we can explore a new relationship together as you roll up your sleeves with joy and build a new Earth.

Thank you.

We are imbued with the thought that humanity and we are brethren and thus we offer a helping hand when we can. We would deem it a dark and dismal choice to leave you on your own to suffer the transformations thrust upon you at this time.

We too have endured such experiences and having learned from them, we are most thankful for the help and support we received at the time from others more advanced and capable than us. This aid made it possible for my civilizations to expand and prosper, where we could have ailed and faltered.

It is our hope that humanity will come together in agreeing that the best tactics for developing a new civilization will manifest with the co-operation of those senior in wisdom. This is no easy task. We understand the need for humanity to see tangible workings, but I challenge you to consider that in your current life and situation, many intangible processes run their course daily in front of your eyes and are commonly accepted.

For instance, the very life force that enlivens your body cannot be touched, yet it activates the solid mass of your physical form from inception to death. You see plants grow just as you see a child grow. Invisible forces are responsible for all life on this planet.

It is a grave concern of ours that humanity will fail to recognize this standard fact and consider our existence as a mystery you cannot comprehend. We are no more mysterious in existence than you are yourselves. We simply reside at a different address as it were, and like a visiting cousin, we have come in your time of need.

And humanity will be in need. The transformation of your collective home (Earth) will cause tremendous disruptions and chaos to your lives. To right this chaos will require an equally tremendous effort, an almost insurmountable effort. We know humanity does not have the foresight to address these upheavals properly. It is beyond your scope of knowledge, but not beyond ours, nor is it outside our scope of experience.

We have endured these times and we will gladly lend our support to help you endure these times as well. It gives us great pleasure to offer our assistance. Thank you.

I wish to say a few things regarding this new Earth that humanity is moving toward very rapidly. Let me begin by saying that humanity currently has little to no idea what to expect. Even those people who speak about this new Earth or this new dimension that humanity will move into do not fully understand what to expect. The vast majority of humanity has no idea of what is about to happen and do not know that it is for the betterment of the human race.

We Masters and Off-Earth Allies who are very much involved in this transition period for humanity are attempting to prepare people for moving into a new consciousness and a new way of living, and we have understood for a long time that this change would be difficult for you. Yes, it has been deemed a traumatic experience that you will face when this transitional period begins. It could not be otherwise: the old world that you have known for so long is about to disappear since it has outlived its usefulness. The Earth history that your current society has pieced together in bits and pieces clearly shows that life has been difficult for humanity. Now we are approaching not only a time of transition but a time when you must learn how to create a new civilization.

Humans have always been a creative force on planet Earth but now this creativity has to reach a much higher level of consciousness or awareness. This means that humanity will need to build a new civilization very different from the ones you know from history. People know a little about the civilizations of the past few thousand years and they know something about how these ancient civilizations were organized and what the relationships were between the leadership then and average people.

Both in the East and in the West, humanity created civilizations that brought some stability to humans and structured a society so that people could learn a little about who they were and what their relationship was to the whole or the totality of that civilization. People learned that they had obligations to their civilization. Everyone had obligations to create this larger society that in turn was to care for the total population. Naturally, civilizations rose and fell over and over again as new ideas presented themselves and new civilizations were built.

Today, we have come to the point where we have again new ideas and thus new approaches to civilization-building. For the first time, humanity will need to truly come to terms with the saying "brotherhood of man." Humanity will come to learn that all must give service to the whole. Without the service of all to the larger community, there can be no success in your new civilization.

Thus, the brotherhood of man will become an important concept for humanity to understand. It is not just a goal as men and women see it today, not simply a spiritual or religious ideal, but in fact the very foundation of the new Earth that we together are rapidly moving into.

Humanity needs to see itself for the first time as a total unit. For humankind to see yourselves as one great functioning organism is critical. This one organism will not be healthy until each member of human society is fully participating at the level that they were intended to participate at from the first day they were born as an incarnated being on the planet. We have then the need to bring everyone into this one living organism.

This one living society is intended to be healthy and provide every human being not just with the fulfillment of their physical needs but also the wherewithal for each and every soul to evolve at the maximum rate of speed and accomplish their incarnational goals. In addition, each soul has an obligation to all the other souls to unite in creating one great organism that will unify all souls in a great civilization. Then all humanity will come to know the meaning of the brotherhood of man.

This unity at all levels of existence will eventually become so well understood that nobody in human incarnation would imagine that any other type of civilization could possibly be acceptable. This is truly about right human relationships, something that has been lacking in all past human civilizations.

Humanity will come to know about Oneness within humanity at all levels. People will quickly understand the importance of the concept of Oneness and of working in complete harmony and cooperation. This is what we may call the new Earth. This will be your new home.
