Update: Expanded Presence ...

Maitreya

This is Maitreya. As I reported last month, the London event did not go exactly as we had thought it would. We were quite optimistic that those we have been working with off and on for a number of years would be receptive to our presence and receptive to our message. As it turned out, it was a bit of a shock for them as we laid out the issues that are facing humanity and laid out the changes that it is within their power to make, the changes that will benefit the entire human family of Earth. When you look at it from their perspective, that is indeed a heavy burden and it is quite a change on top of all they have done. But you see, nothing is going to alter the fact that these changes must be made.

Those who were at the London meeting are still thinking this over. We will continue to work with them as we are invited. However, the window of opportunity to make significant changes is not that wide.

We had originally intended a variety of events, events that included not only the political and economic leaders of the human family, but also included other areas of significance and relevance to the existence of the human family on Earth. And we had hoped to have an event or two for the general public. With the backing of leaders and the acknowledgment that we had hoped from them, we felt that the public would welcome us as well.

Now however, it would appear that our energy is quite frankly needed to work with those who are in positions of leadership, those who are capable within their personal power to shift the framework for the path ahead for the entire human family. And once that framework has shifted because those who have the power to make those decisions have indeed agreed that those decisions need to be made, then we will have time and energy to continue with the series of events that we had initially planned.

What I am saying is that we moved too quickly. We have not allowed enough time and enough contact with those I shall call the prime decision makers and direction setters on this planet and we need to be more respectful of the time they need to adjust to the cold, hard facts that we present because they are the facts that, from our perspective, are quite clear. But they are also the facts that we can do nothing about, for the changes, as we have always said, must be made by incarnated members of the human family.

We would like to say that everything we have said about what individuals can do to lay the foundation for the new civilization, everything that we have said about relationships and the critical importance of repairing, with sustainable repairs, various relationships – this is true. We do hope you will continue to do that repair work and think about it and realize the power you have in your individual lives to bring the human family of Earth one step closer to the new civilization, one step closer to Oneness, one step closer to the environment that is needed for the expansion of consciousness, the environment in which every soul has the opportunity to follow its own unique growth path and the environment in which groups can flourish.

Meanwhile, we are – please allow me a smile – we are going to plans B and C as we move forward to begin our partnership with humanity at the level where we know from our observations that the critical changes can be made and made quickly.

If you would visualize a logjam – imagine logs floating down the river and accept the fact that there can be a logjam. And when there is a logjam, then those who can see the jam and see the lay of the logs and the pressures, one against another, and see what has to be done to release those pressures and free the entire stream of logs to continue moving, then those who see that will go to the center of the logjam as quickly as possible and begin one by one to move and free the pile-up. And that is what we will be doing.

There is no judgment on our part, no blame. These are simply facts. And we feel our efforts are best spent, at this time, focused on what we consider to be the logjam and those who are best capable – given their status, their authority, their commitment to humanity and their personal power – to take the necessary steps to unblock this logjam that we call their attention to. For that is all we can do, call their attention to the logjam and point out what we see from our perspective as the key pressure points, the key unlocking points to free the jam and have humanity moving forward. We feel we must spend our energies there. Once that has been accomplished, we will pick up where we left off and we will move forward the wiser for the experience.

Lowering frequencies to the point where we appear physically and appear in a consistent form that is recognizable as you would recognize a neighbor or an elder brother or a cousin, this takes a great deal of our energy, a great deal. You will simply have to trust that we are telling you the truth about that, and about the fact that a consistent pattern, as we call it, takes a lot more energy than an ad hoc pattern that is used once and discarded – more energy than we had anticipated. Even after we get past the logjam, we will not be able to do as many public events as we had hoped. There are many energetic reasons, one of them being the expenditure required to create a consistently recognizable face so that you may know us.

We will not do so many events as we had hoped to be able to do, but we will do some. That, however, will only be after we are comfortable that the major guiding changes that are necessary have been understood by those who have the power and the wherewithal to make these direction changes and to carry them forward, and that they have the ability to lead the human family in an expanded direction that includes space for spiritual growth just as there is space for other kinds of growth.

We thank you for your patience and we thank you for your understanding that things are moving not quite so quickly as we had anticipated. But they are moving, be assured of that, and we focus our attention where it is needed to get things moving as quickly as possible.

I thank you.

Lord Maitreya

Ken'u

This is Ken'u speaking for those of us who are Off-Earth Allies, elder brothers and sisters or, if you prefer, elder cousins from afar. We too have a perspective on what is happening with the human family of Earth because we have seen these major changes in our own cultures, in our own histories and in the histories of other human families throughout the galaxy. This has been said before. It is true.

So we bring with us, those of us from off Earth, a vast and broad variety of experiences that can be drawn on by the human family of Earth. And as has been said by individuals many times – many times – it is a gift that we are allowed to speak with you through this means, this website, and hopefully, eventually, speak in person side-by-side with our brethren from the Community of Masters. But the time is not yet.

We very much look forward to that time, for we remember the depth of the friendships that we have had with the human family of Earth. Those are fond memories for us, happy memories and we do wish to once again be in a position where we can speak with you, offer our insights, listen to your responses and work with you. But that time of opening to the broader family is not yet possible.

We will focus, we who have come forward as Earth Advisors in a team of five, we will focus our energies and work with the most strategic groups. Once their decisions have been made, then we will move on, as Lord Maitreya said, and expand our visible presence that you may know we are here because you can see that we are here.

Unfortunately, that will require some patience on your part. And, believe it or not, that will take some patience on our part as well because we have been looking forward to reawakening the ancient friendship and that will occur more slowly than we had anticipated. So we are focusing where the focus in our minds needs to be to the best service of the entire human family of Earth.

Please know that we have a very deep and earnest concern for the well-being of this human family of Earth. We will willingly offer our very best advice as we listen to the leadership groups we meet with. As we explain what we know, what we have experienced, what we see from our perspective, we will listen, we will explain, we will talk, we will offer advice ... but the decision is not ours to make.

We have great faith in the human family of Earth and their willingness to let go of what must be let go and to move forward, taking steps to build what must be built.

Thank you.

Panelist Group ...

The December events and our first steps will be for naught until we begin to move forward and the forward motion that we anticipate in 2014 is indeed going to be a very large step for humanity.

We will encourage dialog among those we have contacted so that those we have met in Egypt and London and those political and economic leaders we hope to meet in other key centers of power throughout the world will form alliances of respect with one another. We envision that they will first speak with each other and then speak to the public. These leaders will be heard because of their positions. Once they are heard, more will be possible with target audiences among the general public. In this way, humanity as a whole will hear of our existence, our return and our intention to assist in solidifying the vision of a new civilization for the humanity on planet Earth.

That is the objective to which we are moving. We will move forward as quickly as possible. It must be perfectly clear that this is a collaboration between those who are Earth Advisors – that includes the Community of Spiritual Masters and our Off-Earth Allies; we are all Earth Advisors – this includes Earth Advisors and humanity in collaboration. We will each have our own role.

It has been said many times quite clearly that we as Earth Advisors are unable to actually do the work. But what we can bring are details for that vision of a new Earth. We can bring experience in the kind of transition that is facing humanity, a transition that requires letting go of major institutions as they exist today and moving forward to the major institutions of the new civilization. And those major institutions of the new civilization may contain similarity in function, but in physical implementation let me assure you they will be quite different.

And the difference will not be imposed upon humanity. The difference will be designed and implemented by an awakened humanity who begins to understand what it means to be one family on this planet and that the human family on this planet is simply one of many human families in the cosmos.

Once those in the centers of power have spoken of us, we will move forward speaking of this vision, working with other leaders who have proposed part of this vision already. It won't be as if there has been no groundwork laid, for there has been groundwork. We will be working with established leaders in many fields so that we can pull all those groundwork pieces together, smoothe them out, coordinate them and discuss what might or might not need changing to sustain a new civilization on planet Earth. This will be humanity's design. That must be perfectly clear.

We bring advice, we bring perspective. We can state the objectives as we know them, objectives for the plan of this planet and this planet's advancement as a great soul, objectives for humanity's advancement in consciousness within this planet. Objectives we can bring, but the design ... the design is yours to create, yours to build, yours to implement and yours to live in.

But what will be clear as we move forward is that while you are living in this period of transition and while you and yours actually live in the civilization that you design and create, we will be there. We will be your friends, your advisors, your elder siblings, your partners, your co-creators in a manner of speaking. That must be clear. The roles must be clear: we do not and cannot impose anything upon you.

We will do our very best to communicate the vision and the necessary moves forward to fulfill the plan for this planet. It is an objective of expanding consciousness for the great soul who is this planet and expanding consciousness for humanity ... as well as for the other kingdoms living within this planet, other kingdoms this planet provides with life.

Therefore, moving forward is getting the word out, moving forward is making our presence a reality now rather than a presence that will never exist or a presence that will only exist at some future time. Moving forward means having sufficient evidence that elder brothers and sisters who have been through their own human incarnations on this planet exist and elder brothers and sisters exist from other families in the cosmos. And they work together as a team.

Moving forward means pulling together the pieces of evidence that exist and have been misinterpreted or that exist and have not been yet found and bringing these acceptable physical proofs to your attention sufficiently that the right questions begin to be asked. Until the right questions are being asked, the right answers will not evolve.

All this is part of moving forward and this is what we expect to eventually see. This is the direction we anticipate moving in the year 2014. The pace is yet to be determined.

Now, we anticipated that the first team emergence would be visible in April of 2013 and it was not until December of 2013 that this emergence came about in the nature of two events: one in Egypt, one in London.

But you see, in the vast expanse of time it was but a few months' delay and it was a delay that resulted in much learning on our part about what it is going to take to get the attention of humanity and break through all the myths, all the certainties, and get to the fact that we do exist, we have emerged, we are and will be here. We have learned and we will change our approach based on that learning.

Moving forward will include more events, events that will be more open as those leaders we contact speak with one another and begin to trust both us and each other. As trust builds, as incredulity is overcome, these events will be filmed and released when comfort levels permit. That much we can say for certain.

Beyond that, all we can say is that we are moving forward and we have those in humanity who are committed to the human family of Earth and have committed to walk forward with us. On that basis we will move forward and expand the base of those who are willing to work with us and we will reach a critical mass of those who believe that we are in fact here and here to stay. Then we can begin to iron out the bumps and creases in a functioning partnership that will see all of us together through this time of transition from an old civilization that is already beginning to crumble at certain seams to a new civilization for the human family on planet Earth.

Thank you.

The Panelist Group

Master Kuthumi ...

It is one thing to take the first step of a journey – it is another to keep moving forward. And that is what we have in mind – the Community of Masters, the Off-Earth Allies and humanity all moving forward together, each in our own role as the vision of the new Earth gains a place in humanity's imagination ... and then in their thinking.

You have heard this idea similarly expressed many times in words like, "Build it and they will come." Well, the building of a new civilization begins in the hearts and minds of the people. It begins in their imagination. It begins in the intuition. It begins with the highest and noblest ideals, for they are part of a Divine Plan that, once touched, can trickle down like gossamer into the mind belt through the plane of the soul. And this was ever so, for everything stems from the highest place and precipitates downward to denser and denser levels, and finally into physical reality itself.

For such things as justice and equality, it is a long and arduous road, fraught with many painful turns. But always there are signposts along the way including truth, beauty and goodness which ever light that way, underpin that creation that is the dawning of every new civilization. For new civilizations and new societies spring from the deepest longings, the deepest collective longings of the people. And when the time is right, they will not be denied.

And so, truth, beauty, goodness, justice, peace ... all of these great ideals find a new and creative emergence on a new playing field at each turn of the spiral. And this is the place where we find ourselves now. And this is why, this is how these great ideals are again touching the imagination of the people in response to their cry for justice and freedom – and, I would add, succour – help from us, your elder brothers and sisters.

We have heard and we are here. And we have assisted at the birth of other civilizations and so are well prepared to help you and yours. And so we encourage your highest imaginings, your deepest longings, and we help, we inspire as much as possible the awakening of your thinking in these new ways and new dimensions.

It is an exciting period, an exciting time, an exciting endeavor, make no mistake. And you are here now as part of this great awakening ... you, the current seven billion upon this planet, are being touched and have come for this particular event. You have answered the call. And each of you, did you but know it, has something to contribute, some measure of contribution, in the quickening of humanity's imagination and thinking.

Take your places at our side that together we may begin to chisel, to unveil the face and form of this new time. We stand ready, we, your elder brothers and sisters of the Community of Spiritual Masters and of Off-Earth Allies who are here now to assist you in this great endeavor, to literally partner with the human family of Earth in the creation of this new world. We cannot repeat enough that we stand by you. And we cannot repeat enough that you must invite us to ride with you into this new time.

Our Off-Earth Allies will tell you how deeply honored they are to engage in this partnership. And we of the Community gladly take up this role again. And so to you, our human partners, in all of these ways that you are striving to imagine, to create and precipitate this new time, this new civilization, welcome!

Tread joyfully, for it is into light that you tread, however dark circumstances may appear just now. Tread boldly as well, for it is time to be bold. Tread swiftly (for why would you tarry?), leaving behind all that no longer serves and hastening to proclaim the greatness that is yours to claim as part of the Divine Plan now opening in your hearts and minds. Rally quickly and let us swiftly enter this new and better time together.

Thank you.

Kuthumi

Ken'u ...

The topic for this month – Moving Forward – is a topic that we are very much looking forward to executing. We have been waiting for this opportunity and when I say “we,” I mean the team of Earth Advisors who has come forth on site and the team of Earth Advisors that remains, at this point, behind the scenes working very diligently on the objectives. And this is team work.

Moving forward, having our feet on the ground in the physical plane is, what you could say in your understanding, a breath of fresh air. It is taking a deep breath, it is having hope, it is seeing a long planned, a long hoped for eventuality come to fruition. We are here.

Is it true that we had hoped for a more magical introduction, that we would come and explain ourselves and explain all we know about what is going to be happening to this planet in the coming years and all we know about the milestones for the expansion of human consciousness. We expected to be welcomed warmly for what it is we know and all – and I would emphasize that all – all that we can offer by way of advice and guidance to safely navigate this period of transition with as few injuries and painful awakenings as possible.

What we found out is that we have more groundwork to do. So we roll up our sleeves figuratively and begin the groundwork. And that we do gladly and willingly because you see, as has been said before, we are quite accustomed on this team to changing plans based on the response we get from humanity. What we're learning is to be better predictors of that response.

Now let us break this down into function. We looked to leadership, the appointed and recognized leaders, and discovered they were not quite so eager for our message as are perhaps the people that they lead. And while it might be possible to engage in broader public appearances, that has its drawbacks in many ways, one of them being the vast numbers of the broader public. That is good in the area of support, but it is more difficult to do one-on-one communication with vast numbers of people than it is to do one-on-one communication with a few very, high-positioned leaders. I think you can understand.

We are redrawing our approach and our timeline. We have moved forward. We are here. We are here to stay. We are here to assist the human family of Earth through this period of transition. We are moving forward. We will publicize details of as many events as possible, but we must honor the wishes of those who organize these events and those who attend. We will share everything possible.

Most importantly, do not lose faith – do not lose faith in the birth of a new civilization here on Earth or in humanity’s ability to design and build an environment that fosters soul growth and the expansion of human consciousness.

Thank you.

Mother Mary ...

Hello, this is Mary.

Moving forward is our theme for this month. Moving forward is something that we do all the time, after a success as well as after a failed attempt at something. We move forward because there is never a way to move back. Moving forward gives us a choice though, the choice to move forward choosing wisely – motivated, encouraged, full of eagerness – or in a lazy way.

Today, I would like to encourage you to join hands with us and the rest of the human family of Earth, to move forward in an active and engaged way, rather than just follow. Each of you has gifts that can bring about much positive change, but only if you get actively involved in your life and that of others.

We Earth Advisors never just move on, we move forward. That entails learning lessons from past events, using momentum and aiming ahead. There is no place for living in the past. This is what we would suggest that you consider. If you keep your mind busy with thoughts of the past, you will find no creativity left for the present and future. Creativity: that is something from the repertoire of our friend, the Venetian Master, so I smile and will not go deeper into this part of the subject.

When we move forward as a committed team of Earth Advisors and humanity combined, a new relationship will naturally grow. A bond like a network of various strengths and thicknesses will be formed with various groups as humanity learns to trust us more and use our advice, knowing that the wisdom we share is both universal and individually applicable day by day.

Some people might be afraid of taking the next step and then another. It takes a certain kind of trust and “feeling comfortable” with the situation. The benefits might not be immediately visible, but they will shine ever so strongly once applied. Hand in hand, we shall move forward, with delight.

Bless you.

Mary

Osiris ...

Those of us who have watched your planet evolve from afar have watched silently, in most cases, for a very long time. We have on occasion in the past been in contact with the one you call Mother Nature on your planet and have assisted in many ways over a vast period of time. Today, things are a bit different. Today, we have a rather evolved human race that has reached a point on its evolutionary path where we can say it is now fully prepared to take a major step or leap forward into a new, higher state of consciousness.

This is an important period in the evolutionary development not only of the human race but of the entire planet, a point where everything on your planet is being rapidly lifted into a new world. We call it a new world because essentially you are leaving behind the old world that you have known so well.

I wish to remind you that all planets at some point go through this portal, leaving behind the old and beginning anew when their race has reached a specific point in consciousness. Planet Earth is now ready for this leap forward. Thus, I and others who come with me have been called upon by the Spirit of your planet to assist in this time of great change when you are most in need.

Those you call the Community of Masters have stood by and aided the human race of Earth for a long time but they too are ready to work with those of us who come from other systems and who have already gone through this phase of evolution on our planets a very long time ago. We know the dangers, the difficulties and the concerns everyone has, and thus we are here to provide what advice and assistance we are allowed to deliver.

We are not here to intervene in the plans of the Spirit of your planet but rather to assist that Spirit, who combines the Divine Masculine with the Divine Feminine energy of your planet that humanity knows as Mother Nature. You know less of the masculine aspect of this Great One, the soul of this planet. This spirit is now making great progress in taking planet Earth to new heights of consciousness. Thus, all within its aura must take this leap together.

The planet will go forward in its evolution no matter what, but every member of the human family has freewill to decide for themselves how they are going to cooperate with this plan. As the framework for the new civilization is laid and decisions are made by humanity that shift the direction, we your elder brothers and sisters, both from Earth and afar, can gradually come forward to answer your questions and offer advice upon request on determining a better future for Earth.

We can also shed light on your ancient past. This is important because the human race knows so little today about its own history, so much of which has been locked away for a long time. You have a noble and important past and should be proud indeed of those who built the early civilizations on this planet in cooperation with us, the Off-Earth Allies in cooperation with the Community of Masters.

Yes, there was a period when things went wrong and we were estranged, but we are starting over now, hoping to create a new relationship with the humanity of Earth so that you may progress rapidly into a new Golden Age as some call it, or a new world as others call it, which is simply a totally new beginning at a much higher turn of the evolutionary spiral.

As you begin to create a more perfect civilization to live in, a civilization where you can realize all the benefits of living that humanity has always hoped for, as you learn to trust us, we can work together in a most harmonious, cooperative and productive manner. This I have no doubt will happen and this I have no doubt will be totally successful.

Osiris
(from Sirius)

Lord Maitreya ...

We categorize this time in Earth's history as a watershed, for over this rapidly-evolving period, many goals that have long preoccupied humanity will be met. Setting up this implementation has involved a multitude of beings of great magnitude and evolution, all truly aligned with caring for Mother Earth and her peoples.

We look to each other as well as what we hear in the wishes of humanity's voices and carefully do what we can to foster the decided aims. The Great Being who put forth this decree for earthly existence is ever more certain we must succeed at aiding humanity reach these goals.

So, upon reflection, we have started to do this, but it is just the tip of the iceberg. The work before humanity is ever vast and to jump-start it, we must first take some large steps together. We have been guiding the human family of Earth for eons, awaiting the moment in time where we can work together more as partners and less as guides on high.

We are not completely comfortable with the latter portrayal or the weight of responsibility this old world view lays upon our shoulders. Few of us can live comfortably on Earth, yet we are accountable for its fate and its people.

We cannot leave humanity to suffer what would surely unfold without the guidance we proffer, so a first step is setting up communication channels and getting to know one another and trust one another. Actually, we are not so concerned on our end about learning to trust humanity, for we have observed you for eons and know what you are capable of. We wait for humanity to learn to trust the Community of Spiritual Masters as well as the Off-Earth Allies. We are your brethren and we stand before you, ready to serve.

After the December events in Egypt and London, we know that the word will be spreading that we have made contact with the human family of Earth and this will be engendering mixed reactions. To date, some are supportive, some are fully rejecting our existence and offer to help, while still more are grappling to catch up with the concept and trying to comprehend. We are giving all of those time to process what they have seen and heard, for we have great faith that those meetings carried great seeds of thought and action that are now waiting to sprout and flourish.

We hold in high regard those who have opened their minds and hearts to consider the proposal of our collective team. We truly bow to those who can see the critical importance of the information we bring now and the need to carry on further dialogue, who can consider what it means to the human family of Earth, what it means to ignore this information or use it. We are indeed very thankful for those who organized these events that we consider the most important of milestones.

We have begun. More will follow to build on these milestones.

Thank you.

Maitreya

Lady Nada ...

Many of you will know or remember that one of my primary roles in relation to humanity in particular and for the benefit of Mother Earth in general is that of deep healing, deep regeneration and the allaying of deep woundedness. This is a key factor, particularly in these early steps forward into the New Earth.

And so I would say to each and every reader of these messages, as part of the vanguard: let go, surrender and wipe out the hurts, the grudges, the resentments, and all forms of blame and indignation that may be clouding your being – all of the perceived slights, both large and small. To the perpetrator, the underlying story is long gone and perhaps not even recognized, let alone admitted as wrongful or atoned for. As long as you feed them, however, these toxic scars will continue to rob YOU of your soul light. So endeavor to deal with them as very best you can, through forgiveness practices (and there are many) or through a simple and final act of will. Give up all that you are harbouring from the past.

Then you will have a clean slate, except for all the things you are allowing to weigh you down in the present – all of those shoulds, coulds, and woulds that remain forever on your “to do” list. Honesty is the key. Accept what is not likely to work for you, not ever or not at least in the foreseeable future, and lay to rest those illusions and delusions to free up your energy and liberate your drive. For what? For the great adventure that can be your life when you allow the quality of grace to flow through you moment to moment.

Grace is contagious and will taint your future with goodwill. Imagine getting along with your family, your friends, your colleagues, day to day with clear eyes, heart wide open and a clean slate. Not comparing and competing, not hoarding or giving away your power, but complete, whole and open. This is the authenticity I would have for you as a new human, as an early builder of the new civilization. And I would have this activation extend further – throughout all of society, nature and Mother Earth, to “give peace a chance.”

I and those many here with me are here to assist you now and to open many more doors for you once you have found the key.

Lady Nada

Anubis ...

Moving forward. What is it that is moving forward for the human family of planet Earth? What is it that Earth Advisors are going to be doing in terms of moving forward? And what is happening to planet Earth itself moving forward?

Well, you see the first steps of planet Earth's journey forward have already begun. The frequency is changing. The kingdoms of Earth are responding to that heightened frequency. That forward motion will continue and it will gather momentum.

Now, what does moving forward mean for the human family of Earth? Moving forward in some ways is looking back, taking a moment to look back and realize what has been happening, what has been evolving, how institutions have been changing, how governments have been changing, step by step by step. And once that look back is complete, and it need not take long, moving forward is then assessing whether or not human consciousness and expanding human consciousness and manifesting the Divine Spark that exists within every human being is served by these institutions.

Moving forward is looking at relationships. This is one thing that cannot sufficiently be emphasized, for every human family in the cosmos who has gone through this kind of transition has faced relationship changes: relationship to the planet in which they live and move and have their being, relationship to one another.

Groups tend to become comfortable, be they ethnic groups, be they bloodline family groups, be they geography-bound groups. Groups tend to be stable. People may move in and out, but the group itself becomes very comfortably stable ... for a time. There are the national boundaries that tell you these geographic locations are within the boundaries and these are not. There is more stability in some areas than others, but in general, there is a stability and there is often an ethnic stability, a cultural stability within a subculture of the geographic boundary. I don't think that's news to anyone.

The point is that relationships from one of these groups to another change, and this is played out throughout the entire cosmos for any group who is going through these transitions. These relationships change. The relationships to other members of the human family and to other groups of the human family change. All these relationships change because there has been, in one way or another, what you call a pecking order established. And there may be a great deal of physical equality, but then the pecking order is, or can be easily turned into the degree of consciousness expansion. So there are relationships within the human family. On Earth, those relationships are sometimes very volatile and violent and stressed.

Then there is the relationship to the Source, to the Divine. And that comes through relationship to one's own internal Spark of the Divine or soul, as it is called here. These relationships also change and that is part of consciousness expansion.

So as all of these relationships shift, the realization comes that there is no choice but to see them shift toward Oneness, toward equality. You have a saying about the haves and have-nots. Well, you can pattern that have and have-not dichotomy across the cosmos. It is simply a matter of what is had and what is not had ... and those relationships normalize. Those on either side of the equation realize that there is a common humanity and a common relationship to the Divine, to the Source, that they share. That is one of the ways in which the human consciousness moves forward when you are in a period of transition like the human family of Earth is now.

These changes come about. And moving forward, having looked back, having assessed where you are now with perhaps a new consciousness, the move is then looking forward and realizing and designing where it is you are moving to. Moving forward begins with realizing that you are moving from something to something. And we are here with a vast degree of experience to support and explain, to give advice and tell our stories of how other human families of the cosmos elsewhere handled this. Your distant cousins three-quarters of the way across the galaxy faced a similar situation and this is what they did. This is how it was handled.

This is not necessarily an easy change, but you have at your disposal those who have seen similar changes and can point out where they can be a lighthouse for the reefs. Take advantage of the services we offer, for we are here and we are here to offer those services. As you move forward, we will move forward with you. That is the message that I would like to convey.

I very much look forward to a time when I too will join the Earth Advisors who have come forward and are speaking with groups on the dense physical both personally and through trained voices.

Thank you very much.

Sartarius ...

This is about moving forward. My friends, we look forward to the time when you will realize, you will know beyond the shadow of a doubt, that we, your Off-Earth Allies, are here to assist you, to assist you in moving forward, along with our companions of the Community of Spiritual Masters.

Establishing the connection is one thing, a very great thing, and moving on is something else. I represent several groups from the Pleiades who are here to help you in that endeavor. And one of the exciting doors that is opening is in the realm of science, of deep science and technology, for after first steps with Earth's political and economic leaders are successful and humanity's thinking begins to shift, connections will be made that have for several centuries been held apart, and these are connections between the theoretical sciences and their applications or applied science.

Things that to now have appeared to be theorems, imaginings, will suddenly be producing results, manifestations in the areas of concrete science that will astound at first and very much assist in the creation of the new civilization as that trend gets rolling. So look for applications of deep theoretical musings becoming reality, and these include virtual realities impinging onto the physical. You will know whereof I speak when you see it. And it is not so very far away that you will see and witness whereof I speak.

Look also on the physical plane for the mergings of many functionalities into more and more elaborate combinations of things that can be done with one simple apparatus. There are many, many fledgling technologies and applications of this type and they will continue, simplifying day-to-day living, day-to-day communication, day-to-day connection, not only in the more developed nations but also increasingly in those that have lagged behind traditionally in terms of production. These means will be shared and facilitate much infrastructure without the need for a lot of cumbersome building.

Look for synthesis as well in the fields of healing and medicine, where new discoveries, new recombinations of older wisdom will be part of the technological and the quantum revolutions. Across the board, two words stand out: "quantum" and "hybrid." You are on the verge of realizing what even today seem like miraculous developments.

Another huge advance is waiting to overtake the scientific and other fields – an advance, well, which may seem unbelievable to many – and that is the removal of competition and the profit motive, the removal of shackles that have held back the implementation of a saner and cleaner form of living for the benefit of the almighty dollar. This in many ways has been the scourge, the dirty secret, the blasphemy that has held back great portions of humanity, for centuries of course, but even more obviously, more shamefully in the last century or so when so many ravages have been perpetrated and entertained in the name of profit, on the very body of Mother Earth, scars on the very body of Mother Earth.

Moving forward on the shoulders of other progress – in the fields of communication, science, medicine, the arts, in all the great fields – it will become obvious that collaboration and sharing are the way forward, not competition and certainly not complacency. And so, with the tide of the new time and the new civilization sweeping in, these monumental changes will also arise, seeping in at first and finally, in a great wave of liberation, engulfing all of the old and useless and obsolete, and pushing forward into this new and better time.

These gifts will be yours thanks to your own realizations and your own rectifications, your own striving. But we, your Off-Earth Allies, are here to lend tremendous support and assistance, to make the process smoother and swifter. Call upon us, for we are here and this is your birthright. It is also the divine plan for humanity and all of the kingdoms of Mother Earth at this time. And so, this plan, this divine plan will prevail.

Yours in goodwill,

Sartarius

Master Morya ...

The collective Earth Advisors are eagerly contemplating actions that can be pursued to spread the new vision of Earth's future. We must strike while the iron is hot, for the fate of humanity is at stake and we will not stand idle.

It is a truly great opportunity for humanity to transform its position with our help and guidance, but you must give us your permission to act as such. Eagerly we await this offer to be of use to the human family of Earth. Our efforts are purely of a spiritually developmental nature. We cannot actually do any lifting. You of humanity must do that yourselves, but we are more than willing to guide you to the best result.

Along the way, we trust that humanity will come to the conclusion that it is in your best interest to have good advisors, advisors who have by nature more information on hand than this human family does, advisors who have stood the test of time and lived through many ages, seen many results, and are bound by oath and challenge to aid humanity to the best of our knowledge and ability.

This stands to reason as a good opportunity. We look forward to working with those who are interested in this valuable partnership.

Thank you.

Morya

Omstara ...

We who are Off-Earth Allies are delighted to have made this first step to put ourselves and our union with the Community of Spiritual Masters before representatives of humanity. Having come this far on our first steps, we must now engage in the steps to follow.

Much has been speculated but we must remain on track with a focused itinerary that realizes the plan for all. We are eager to step further out into the public eye, even more eager, I think, than those of the Community. For you see, by agreements, we have been essentially silent since Atlantis and have had even less contact with those who were once our friends than the Community has had. All this, however, must await its proper time.

Our first meetings were in limited company and this proved to be a valuable warm-up. We now need to expand and place dialogue in other camps and engage minds of various temperaments to this task of managing world affairs to greater success. And this, again, must await its proper time, for the impact of our first meetings must settle.

We truly hope that the leaders who have seen us – and in some cases worked with us – will soon be willing to speak openly of us and our partnership with the Community. We hope the public will listen to them, we hope that fears will be calmed and that more of humanity's leaders will be open to further meetings as we make several rounds to expand word of our existence and our desire to aid all of humanity to make its mark in history now.

Humanity is unaware of just what a precipice they rest upon at this time. "Rest" is a word I use with precision, for humanity's perception of the world does leave most of the powerful, affluent and content among you resting on your laurels, engaging in actions to maintain the status quo. The status quo is an extremely dangerous ideal. There is nothing in that plan that will allow human consciousness to expand, at least not healthily.

We are here to help the human family of Earth see beyond this state and recognize the very serious need for progressive action and forethought. Given the standard reception of what is not familiar to you, we do not expect the broader public to just wildly accept our presence. But like a distant cousin who suddenly appears at the door, we are here. Only we do not come to ask you for a roof over our head, we come to help you provide a better one for yourselves.

I do congratulate those who have taken the risk to consider the possibility that we are here and we are your relations who would like to help you relate to your world in a better way. I congratulate you.

The Venetian Master ...

Hello, my friends, this is the Venetian Master.

Moving forward is a topic to my liking. As an artist, I have been forever moving forward – until a work of art is finished. And then, I would move forward to start the next one.

When you paint, you apply one stroke of the brush at a time, yet it is the gentle, almost lovingly synchronized play of the colors, the size and shape of the brush, the pressure when paint is applied to the canvas and such that will move you forward to your goal, the finished painting. Not to forget the creativity and mood of the artist, the intuition from his or her soul.

So moving forward in this endeavor to create a new Earth, raise consciousness and work toward a more positive outcome is once again a combination of various forces, tools, moods and intentions.

This has to be understood. Each and every one throughout cosmos is a spoke in the wheel, a piece of the puzzle. Some members of humanity are embracing this thought wholeheartedly. Others are stumbling into the insight unprepared. However, when each comes to realize their involvement, with no or only a temporary resistance, we hope that the human family of Earth will indeed be joyfully taking the next step, moving forward.

We have a big advantage over you here. We can already see the big, beautiful, finished picture, and it is a true work of art. It is so blissfully beautiful. But it is not our vision alone that counts, for we are not the designing artists creating it. It is the artwork of artworks, one that can only be completed when all work together.

So, what can you do personally to move forward? You will know when you are indeed moving. For some, the next step comes naturally. For others, it will be more of a milestone and conscious decision. But what all of these moves have in common is momentum. You move. We all move.

Have you felt stagnation before? Hopelessness? This is the exact opposite of what the human family of Earth will be feeling once humanity joins hands with us to move forward.

There is a certain excitement about moving forward – the step toward the unknown, the knowingness that something is happening rather than stagnating.... Take this excitement and enjoy it. Use it to spark others around you. Feel the fresh new motivation, the catalyst. It does not matter if you cannot see the large, finished painting in front of you yet. Most artists can't. The completed picture is often very different – and often much more beautiful – than what it was intended to be.

Yours sincerely,

The Venetian Master^{*}
