Update: Expanded Presence ...

There is little that I can tell you of good news this month beyond the fact that we of the Community and our Allies have not in any way given up on our plan for a joint event.

This joint event is of immense importance to us and it is of immense importance for paying respect to humanity's free will.

I would like to make it clear that, while we are technically able to come forward as a team, it is truly not appropriate to come without being sufficiently invited. And that is the key. What constitutes a "sufficient" invitation? That is what I will speak to.

The invitation must come in order that we do not violate free will. Since we are coming to all of humanity, the invitation must come from the heart and the free will of those who can be considered spokespeople representing humanity. The other alternative is the issuance of such a massive plea for help from the entire of humanity that it cannot be denied.

Such a plea has not been issued, not since World War I, World War II. The conflagration that spurs such a united plea from the masses has not been issued since then. Even given the situation today in Syria ... in Egypt ... in Israel ... in Tunisia – and the list goes on – even given the situation in the Middle East, we have not heard this united cry from humanity.

We are here. We are waiting to come forth. We are working as best we can, without violating anyone's free will, to convince one organization or another – one who has the stature we need as a representative of humanity – to volunteer sponsorship and be willing to work with us to facilitate the event.

My friends, we are coming. We are not on schedule and that is a disappointment. Those of you who have worked with us for any length of time understand how often it is that we have to – and do – change our plans in response to the decisions that are made by humanity. This is simply another one of those changes, and I will say that we are actually quite adept at making these changes.

I would ask of you two things. First, I would ask you please, do not give up faith, do not give up hope, do not give up the certainty that exists in your heart that tells you we are here and we are coming.

The second thing I would ask is that you speak up to likeminded friends and likeminded groups that you belong to. If you have not done so already, let them know about this website and the messages that we bring forth on this website. I would ask you, please, to spread that word.

We are going to have a great many messages for humanity and this site is one we are relying upon as a site that delivers messages not only from us, but from our allies – all on the same venue, a site that is not focused on who channels what, but rather a site that focuses on the messages that we have to deliver.

This I would ask. I thank you. And once again, I sincerely hope that by next month the news is a bit better and perhaps even exciting. We do not give up hope. I would ask that you do not give up hope either.

I thank you.

Master Kuthumi

Panelist Group ...

The topic this month is myths ... the myths that have grown up, matured and been elaborated over time, myths about those of us who are Off-Earth Allies and those of us who are members of the Community of Spiritual Masters.

Now why, at this time, are these myths of such importance? Joseph Campbell uses myths as a unifying foundation for a nation. And, indeed, myths do have a unifying function when they are shared. However, myths can also serve and function as barriers and that is the kind of myth that we are experiencing, the kind of myth that we will face as we come closer and closer to an open, functioning, elder brother-sister relationship with humanity.

Off-Earth Allies Delegation

It is easy, I think, to see the fear myth that surrounds Off-Earth Allies. You need only look at the horror movies that have been produced, the horror television shows that create and foster deep fear and disservice and distrust. You need only look at the accounts of individuals who say they have been kidnapped and put through grueling tests, painful tests, by aliens. This is very difficult to face for us, those of us who are Off-Earth Allies, and there are Off-Earth Allies in this panelist group, for we do speak on the websites.

We would simply say, as has been pointed out by some of our friends – both human and from the Community of Spiritual Masters – that if we wished any harm to Earth, in any way, we certainly have the technology to inflict great harm. This is a difficult topic for us. We would wait until after we have been welcomed and are walking among you openly to address the accusations and the painful memories of those who have unfortunate experiences with those of us who are not Earth human.

Meanwhile, we would say that we would refer you to a Rudyard Kipling story about a snake and a mongoose and the fear that destroyed the mongoose that was actually protecting the human from the snake. Fear is a destroyer. Fear deserves its own topic. Fear works more destruction than protection. That is a safe statement. The way humanity uses fear, it eventuates in far more destruction than protection.

We must add one more comment about the myths depicting Off-Earth Allies and say that it is the fear myths that create a huge barrier between humanity and those of us who have not only the ability but the will, the commitment and the deep-seated love that brings nothing but aid, and, we hope, wisdom as the time of transition is navigated by those who are laying the foundation for the new civilization. Thank you.

Full Panelist Group

That was from the Off-Earth Ally delegation within this panel group. And we now move on to the Community of Spiritual Masters delegation within this Panelist Group.

Community of Spiritual Masters Delegation

To begin with, we would point out and ask you to please be aware of how we are working together with our Off-Earth Allies in this Panelist Group. We speak with one voice. We reach consensus about the direction of these websites and the Facebook page. That is our purpose as a group: to support and direct WeSeekToServe.com, ThoughtsFromAMaster.com and the WeSeekToServe Facebook page. We form the communication link between our human partners who bring you the websites and the Facebook page and those of us on our side of the veil.

That much is repeat. Now, what myths are we concerned about? What myths are we facing, we who are of the Community of Spiritual Masters?

Well, we face many myths. One of them, and perhaps the most damaging, is the belief that when we become more visible and walk among you side-by-side, we will solve your problems. This is a huge barrier for its inaccuracy. It is huge.

I would have you please think of a young, gifted musician, let us say in the teen years. And this gifted musician is recognized as a gifted musician. Now, this gifted musician has gone as far as possible, let's say has developed alone with sporadic lessons, but essentially, has developed working alone.

Now, the time has come when there is available a master teacher – a master instructor, a master musician – who has been down the same path. And this master musician sees in the teen the possibility of greatness, the possibility of maturing into a master musician and one who can then teach other teens and younger children. When this young musician meets the master musician, does the master musician solve all the younger musician's problems?

I think it should be clear that the work to perfect and hone the talent is entirely in the hands of the young musician. The master musician can only give advice and guidance and feedback. The master musician can offer insights and experiences from which the younger one might gain benefit, but all the work – all of it – to hone that talent is within the control and responsibility of the young musician.

That is a more accurate portrait of what is happening and what is going on. The major myth we face is that we will be solving the problems, or that the problems, themselves, will go away or diminish simply because we are there. No, we will offer what the master musician can offer, and that is a plan for the proper training and development that will bring every ounce of that talent to fruition.

There are myths about magical abilities that we would have, or abilities that seem magical. And we do have abilities that do appear to be magical. I would ask you again to think of the musicians. If the master musician can, let us say, play an intricate passage in a sonata, play a passage that the young musician, as talented as this musician is, is unable to play, the key word is “yet.” Through training, research and practice, the master musician has mastered this particular passage. This is training, research and practice that the young musician has not yet experienced.

There is one more myth that must be addressed and that myth is not even recognized as a myth because what we say, and have said and will continue to say, is misinterpreted. We do not – and will not – violate free will. This is true. The question becomes: Where is the line of free will? In our minds, it is most clear. For we incur karma, karma that will actually impact the entire of humanity if we do violate certain laws, and one of them is the law of free will. This law bids that we cannot come forth to walk among you as your elder brothers and sisters unless we are invited.

And the invitation has specific requirements. There must be a certain quality in the invitation. We shall not get technical, but respect and sincerity are two attributes of this invitation. How does one measure sincerity? That is difficult. And sometimes the pain is very deep before there is a consensus among humanity that outside help is needed.

So essentially, there become two ways to meet the requirements. One way is that there is sufficient pain within humanity that there is issued a unified cry for help from outside humanity. The second way is by far preferable and that is where recognized way-showers, recognized individuals who are committed to the service of the whole and have become leaders in service, that these individuals unite and in their roles as – roles that have been specifically admitted or not admitted, but simply have been there by the way they lead their lives – that these leaders get together and invite us because they know in their hearts that we can offer advice and guidance, and that we do have a plan, that we are, in essence, the master musicians who can work with humanity and bring forth and assist them in bringing forth the incredible talent that lies within.

Full Panelist Group

These we would say are the myths that we, as a group, would discuss. Individual contributors this month will provide you with further information and offer their own perspectives on the myths that we will encounter, that we have encountered, as we set forward on our plan to more openly walk among you.

Thank you.

Panelist Group

Kuthumi ...

This is Kuthumi. My greetings to you.

As you know, there are many ancient tales about us – and others more recent – where we appear as demi-gods or at least as high, mystical beings with quasi-magical powers. Many deem us perfected, and this to an extent we are, though it is a relative perfection. We have simply, as has been stated, trodden further along the path of divinity, part of which involves mastering the laws of nature. That very divinity resides in each and every one of you and so we are brothers and sisters, part of the One Family, of the One Spark. Do not idolize or adore us.

Do not fear us either. We are not here to command, much less to enslave you in any way as so-called Masters. We teach, we counsel, we guide. We shine a light upon the path, but your free will is, and ever will be, sacrosanct. That is our true role and relationship.

Another myth I would address is that we are on our own trajectory, “out there” somewhere, unmindful and uncaring of what transpires on Earth, or when, or how. Nothing could be further from the truth. We are very much active with and on your behalf. We are concerned with earthly unfoldings, with time spans and events, with milestones past and pending, with humanity’s actions, determinations and responses to our proffered guidance. For there is a plan, a divine plan which is ours to manifest, ours to enact in service to Source and to the Logos of this planet. We direct that plan out into the world as we can grasp more of it, but we rely on you as willing participants and builders in service along with us.

Now, a great turning approaches, a momentous step forward for the planet and for humankind. In fact, this transition is well underway. The momentum is clear. With your invitation, with your assent and willing participation, we will soon work openly side by side to usher in a new time, a new planetary civilization.

Do not believe the voices of doom and their dire prognostications. Know that the tide is turning for the better despite all outward bleak appearances. The heart of man is sound and the present calamities will be redressed. Do not believe the myths of violence, hopelessness and despair and their toxic effects now running rampant, now running their bloody outward course, seemingly unstoppable. Believe me when I tell you they are heading toward extinction. You yourselves will banish these evils over time. The heart of man is fundamentally sound and the Earth will be restored. The heart of man is fundamentally wise, fundamentally good, and justice will prevail.

We, your friends and allies, both the Community of Masters and many Off-Earth Allies stand at the ready, stand at your side and lightly tap you on the shoulder. We extend the hand of friendship. We embrace you. We rejoice at our renewed partnership in service to the planet and the plan, for we know already what your response will be.

Most of all, cast aside any inner doubt, any conditioning about sin or inadequacy, the myth that in some way you are lacking, not good enough, not worthy. You are children of the one Godhead, and every hair upon your head is loved and cherished.

Mankind has much to offer, much to teach us as well, and holds a special place in the One Family. So bury the age-old controlling myths, break once and for all the shackles of fear and ignorance: you are not alone. You are loved. You are very Gods in the making.

I salute you.

Kuthumi

Ken'u ...

It is time to set the record straight. There has been a flood of erroneous information about us Off-Earth Allies or visitors from other systems in this galaxy and beyond. It is no use going back into ancient history and trying to sort out how these myths began and whether in fact humans were treated unfairly by any of the Off-Earth Allies.

Let us begin by saying that your planet does have protection from nefarious visitors that would wish to do you any harm. There is the well-known "ring-pass-not" that is controlled by the spiritual entity on your planet who decides who comes in and who can depart.

I, like so many others, am a volunteer. I volunteer when the spiritual leadership of your planet puts out a call for help. I, like so many others, respond to the call and ask how I may assist. We visitors to your planet at this time are quite numerous. If that is a myth, then it would be one of the myths that is essentially correct. There are many Off-Earth Allies currently visiting your planet who have specific permission to be here and directly assist your planetary leadership.

Some of the reasons that we are here have very little to do with any direct communication with humanity. These are issues of importance to the leadership of your planet but not of specific importance to the general human race in incarnation. Your planetary leadership is quite different from your political human leadership or other leadership positions held by human souls in incarnation.

I speak here of the Community of Masters and other great spiritual Lords who have been here since the creation of the human race. They have been your guides for a very long time. From time to time, they call upon us to assist them further when they are in need of help.

At this time, the leadership of your planet requires some assistance because your planet is going through unusual changes. These changes have many consequences for the various kingdoms on your planet. These changes include all the kingdoms down to the mineral kingdom and up to the highest level of spiritual leadership. All is in change.

I have seen these same changes take place on other planets and I have assisted these planets in their time of change. This is not new to me nor is it new to many others who have come to assist your planet. Therefore, I say to you, do not fear us and the recommendations we make because we are specialists in handling swift and major changes that all planets eventually must deal with.

We are in service to your planet and to all humanity. We do not come to harm or misdirect anyone. We are your servants, here to assist you because we know how to correct the difficulties you will encounter in transforming your planet into a far better place. We ask only that you open your hearts and minds to us and give us permission to fully assist you. Without permission from the human sector of your planet, our assistance will be very limited.

We wait for you to call upon us fully and then we can approach you more closely and enter together into a new era of cooperation and trust. It is time that the human race on this planet open your minds to the larger community of humanity that lives in the vastness of the space you can see clearly at night when the stars are at their brightest. Look up and feel the brotherhood that is out there attempting to contact you. We can hear your voices.

Sartarius ...

I convey my greetings to the readers of this website.

I am Sartarius.

A long time ago – or better, eons ago – I volunteered to assist in the development of this planet when the call came for its support. I am still here, at your side and at your service. I have been with you all – or better, with those souls that incarnate here over and over again.... I have been with you through many incarnations and through many difficult, devastating but also heroic and inspiring times.

Yes, it was very difficult for me and for those you once called friends and allies to step back when the request to do so came from the Community of Masters. To step back and watch only was hard – hard on all of us who considered ourselves your friends, your close, trusted friends up to the fall of Atlantis.

We wanted to stay in contact with you.

We did not want you to forget us.

We wanted you to remember us.

And so, after the request to watch only and feeling the pain in our hearts so deeply, we reached an agreement with the Community of Masters and the Lords of Karma to stay in contact with only a handful of you ... really only a handful.

To that handful of incarnated souls we gave visions of us so they got a glimpse of memory of what had happened.

We gave them flashbacks of memories of past events that they reported.

We also conveyed information as dreams that they passed on to those who were open to listening to them.

And in some instances, we were allowed to have personal meetings to prove the point that we are real, that we were and are your friends still, that we are here to assist you to come out of the darkness that befell you.

The stories that were told about us and the relationship that we had were based on the level of consciousness the people had at the time, the time after Atlantis. This level of consciousness fell as well; only a very small percentage of souls were able and allowed to maintain a level of consciousness that was higher than that of their respective countrymen to receive information from us and not be scared of our existence.

Sometimes it was difficult to convey a message. The visions or dreams that we provided to our messengers could be grasped only in part and were prone to be misunderstood, misinterpreted and in the end, misleading to them in their conclusions.

Yes, there were situations on both sides – the human side and our side – that were challenging to handle. It would have been easier from either side to give up and stop communication and interaction with each other. But strangely enough, whenever such a situation arose, the divine spark pushed us forward ... made us continue on our joint journey across dimensions and in most cases assisted us to maintain this very thin etheric link of trust that we had established and that was so vital for our communication.

How often have we been asked to present ourselves globally and visibly to all. How often were we bound by our agreement with the Community of Spiritual Masters and the Lords of Karma to reply that we need to be invited by more than one or two or a handful of incarnated souls, that we need the invitation, the welcoming of society at large ... a society without fear of our arrival, of our presence. It was always too early for this step. Consciousness had to rise again. Information about us had to be passed on to the public – or at least to those who were embracing this information about us. The technology had to be developed to do so. Many prerequisites had to first be in place before we were officially allowed back.

You will remember that in many ancient myths around this globe, similar stories of interactions with ancient gods and kings were reported and narrated. The kernel of these stories is very true and happened thousands of years ago. But over the millennia, facts were changed to suit the respective current ruler to rule in his very own and unique way.

As long as the global consciousness of humanity was more in a state of dormancy than alive regarding past events, unable to remember the correlation, the cooperation, the close relationship we once had with each other, we from our side could only watch and wait and interact with a handful of souls to keep our legacy alive in the tales that were passed down from generation to generation.

Now it seems that all the prerequisites required for us to step back into the official reality of this planet are coming together.

There is much to tell.

There is much to catch up with.

There is much willingness and commitment required to be open when resurrecting and reviving our past relationship, our past friendship and respect for each other.

We have waited for this moment for a very long time. We are embracing this moment ... we are embracing each of you who is welcoming us back into your life!

Thank you for this opportunity to speak to you! Our hearts are overjoyed as we feel the moment draws near where global society is welcoming us back with arms wide open.

I thank you.

Sartarius
(from the Pleiades)

Mother Mary ...

This subject of myths about us must be addressed. We cannot and do not expect humanity to simply understand who and what we are and how we are to interact to produce a harmonious relationship. And we have discovered of late that we, too, do not have all the facts when it comes to dealing with humanity in an agreeable fashion. We of the Community of Spiritual Masters love our brethren in humanity, and while we are your elder brothers, we have the need to foster a learning with and about you.

The first step is to understand who we are and why we are speaking to you, contacting you. As your elder brothers and sisters who have walked the road you walk now, we have spiritual obligations to guide you to your improved situation. Humanity will not be able to do this on its own and we are compelled to offer our wisdom where it may, and determinedly so, change your expected outcome.

The stakes are very high indeed, so we had best try to understand all we can to avoid unnecessary delays, miscommunications or misunderstandings. We recognize the need to dispel, most importantly, misperceptions about who we are.

We are not, and I repeat NOT, here to save your world from imminent disaster. Firstly, we see slivers of shining hope and a multitude of good deeds being done that indicate that humanity can pull itself out of this quagmire ... though not without some guidance.

Secondly, it is not our job to save humanity from imminent disaster. It is your job and your job only. We are here to guide, to suggest, to steer, to aid, to be a source of wisdom. We are very good at these things and they are within our accepted lines of behavior. We cannot fix this for you, nor will we fix this for you ... but we will be here to help you in another fashion that will make the job more manageable, more hopeful and more doable.

WE WILL DO ALL WE CAN. We do not do half-measures. But we are limited by golden laws. We must respect these laws and walk within the lines of these laws. To cross the threshold is a serious offence and will simply not be permitted anyway.

We work best in groups, pairs, triads, or as any number of us together. This is a method that allows for a stronger, synergistic energy to flow, to function. We benefit by a more rounded and balanced voice. When you deal with us, you are dealing with many, though it may be only one who is representing our collective voice and our collective wisdom.

We have endless varieties of these groups, each serving a purpose that may be short-term or long-term, just like you humans may belong to many clubs or organizations in your work and personal lives. We also participate in or lend our voice to a wide range of projects.

While some of us are indeed from distant planets and solar systems, our communication is not impaired by this distance. We operate telepathically with one another and with our groups as well, such that distance is not a limiting factor. Humanity should be able to grasp this concept when one compares this to the everyday cell phone.

Today you can contact a friend or family member in just about any part of this world and, in fact, see them on a screen too.

The technology that allows this to happen is microscopic and energetic. We communicate energetically too and it is less mysterious than you think. It is a very natural process for one with the properly developed instrument to receive and emit.

Your human body is a receiving and emitting organism. All day your body mitigates energy from multiple sources, planetary and off-planetary. You hear, you see, light sparkles, you speak ... all of which are processes of a receiving/emitting instrument that is your human physiology. As you evolve, you become better at receiving and emitting, more refined in your process. You can compare this to the evolution that occurred from the early telegraph to the telephone, to the cell phone, to the personal data device. Think about this.

I could speak unendingly about this subject, but I think that is enough food for thought. We are learning as we go along and truly take our positions amongst you with the upmost joy and seriousness. We are fulfilling our role by working with you.

Mary

Morya ...

These days are the unfolding of a long-awaited plan to seed humanity with thoughts about their future, one that is shared with their brethren in the communities known as the Spiritual Masters and the Off-Earth Allies.

These are lofty names that simply convey your relationship with ancient cousins and family. We are your brethren and you are our brethren. It is as simple as that.

The legacy of humanity has come a long way. A far, far way in fact, for the seed of humanity came from planets other than Earth. Those who count themselves among the Spiritual Masters and the Off-Earth Allies were amongst the first who came to Earth in an expedition to start sentient life here. Those who volunteered to do this still volunteer to guide your (humanity's) way forward.

It is an act of service that we guide our brethren, but it is also an act of love and respect for our younger brothers and sisters. What family member is not compelled to step in and guide a younger sibling as it develops, takes its first steps, grows into a teenager and then into young adulthood? What elder sibling does not always feel some thread of responsibility to lend a guiding hand long into the life of the younger sibling? It is done without question.

Thus, when humanity questions why we Masters would do what we do, think along this line of thought ... what would you do to help your younger sibling?

I can pretty much guarantee that you will have a similar response. It would not matter to you if your sibling lived across the street, across town, across the country or across an ocean – you would feel compelled from love to lend a guiding hand in any situation. This is the way we operate. And I say "we" to mean you and I, humanity and the Spiritual Masters and the Off-Earth Allies.

It is one of the most beautiful qualities when it comes to relationships ... this reaching down to lend a helping, guiding hand from a place of love.

We will continue to do this whether all of humanity accepts it or not, for there are always those who ask for this help and guidance and we are quick to respond. It is our greatest desire.

I urge you to consider this line of dialogue in order to understand our intentions and therefore our line of communication. We truly desire to help and offer our wisdom from having been there in the ages that have passed and gained much experience.

I thank you.

Morya

Serapis Bey ...

I wish to make it clear that I am not the only Master who would speak about this matter of myths. I will, however, give you my opinion.

We can begin by saying there is a long and ancient history regarding the relationship of the Masters with humanity. We have often been mistaken for various angelic beings, and although we do not mind being mistaken for angelic beings, we are somewhat in a different category. We prefer to see ourselves as the nearest guides that humanity has to receive information about the plan for planet Earth from our Spiritual Logos, the Great Being who ensouls our planet and gives it life energy. Having said this, we have been for some time rather hidden from sight to most of humanity. This has been a requirement and only more recently have we been given the freedom to access humanity in a manner that is more direct.

In some ways, this began with the creation of the Theosophical Society in the 1870s. These Western theosophists were encountering something very different when they met us since doing so had not been part of their tradition. This was a new opportunity to bring the message of the Community of Masters to the Western world, a message that had traditionally been well-known only in the Eastern world, where we were known through the ancient myths, especially in India and parts of China. We were known by various names in the East, and people understood that we were a group of spiritual beings who attempted to protect and guide humanity.

In the Western world, things were very different. We had little contact with anyone in the West. When there was any contact, we were labeled Christian saints who had come back after their death to speak to the living. We were also confused with the angels. Although this does not offend us in any way, we do wish to be known as a group who serves humanity in a very specific manner.

When the Theosophical Society opened their headquarters in India, it was a new opportunity for the Masters since British colonial rule in India provided English-speaking newspapers and this information could easily spread to London, to Europe and then to the Americas. There was some success with these endeavors and we were pleased to be a part of that introduction. However, things began to get out of hand when there were too many people who wanted to stake a claim on us. People wanted to use us for personal reasons rather than seeing us as working with all of humanity.

It is not that the Theosophical Society information was not correct, but rather that it did produce a rather isolated view of the Masters. Perhaps the work at that time focused too much attention on who we were, where we lived, and on providing special instructions on how to contact us for purposes other than guiding humanity. We, the Masters, are here to bring a vision of the spiritual plan to Earth from our planetary Logos. Again, this is the Great Being who ensouls our planet and gives it life energy.

There is always a plan for this planet and it can be very helpful to humanity if they know the direction in which our planet's spiritual life energy wishes to take us. Fighting the plan of the Logos or the God of our planet is a useless task. Rather, we would like to see humans attempting to promote the plan of our Logos which is stepped down and then further implemented by the Community of Masters. This they accomplish by influencing the mental plane of those humans who freely choose to work closely with the Masters.

Those of you who read this message sense perhaps that you already work in cooperation with a group of humans who are taught by one or another of the Masters. Others may sense that there are always changes taking place and that there is a line of least resistance when following the plan. We do not, as a Community, tread upon the free will of humanity. The human race on this planet is free to accept or reject our plan. This is the way it has always been and this is the way it will be in the future.

On this planet, humanity is never coerced unduly into accepting our teachings and we will never castigate those who are unwilling to accept our advice. It is up to each and every human to learn about planetary evolution of all things on this planet.

At this time, there are many human souls on the planet who are ready and willing to devote themselves to the cause of directing humanity down the path that leads to fulfillment of the current plan for humanity. Never before have so many human souls been ready to work so diligently with us. We are very pleased to be able to say this. It will mean much to humanity in general if we can move quickly into a more enlightened community that will build new civilizations for the benefit of all.

Serapis Bey

Master Yeshua ...

Greetings.

We have much to say on the topic of the Community of Ascended Masters and our Off-Earth Allies.

We find it imperative to begin grouping together, so to speak, to form a stronger bond with humanity, as the "one leader" mentality is no longer going to serve you in what must take place.

The humans on the planet at this time are depending too much on themselves and not allowing those of us in the higher dimensions to guide enough of you to count. It is true that many are, as you say, awakening, but allow us to say this: group consciousness is already active on the planet and has much to do with many of the casualties you are experiencing and are still going to face.

We are working with our Off-Earth Allies to form a more peaceful world even though what you are witnessing may not appear that way at all. Many of you have worked closely with us and with other beings in the great universe. This will continue as we move closer to the Oneness that is needed upon the planet at this time.

There are coming many natural disasters as well as casualties that are brought on by the group consciousness of fear. This is demonstrated within the religious communities and in your governments. You all know that peace is the ultimate end and that the most powerful way to achieve it is through universal unconditional love, and we suggest that you begin now, not only to achieve peace for yourselves but to begin teaching it to others as well.

If you open up to the fact that there are Off-Earth Allies who are assisting us as well as you, then we will be in a much better position to make the needed changes as a group force.

It takes the cooperation of all to achieve the goal. However, too many of you give up before we are able to assist with many of the goals, even those on a personal, human level within your own beings. We would suggest that you find the time to search your souls as to the best way for you to connect with us and with our Off-Earth Allies so that we can reach the Oneness we all are working towards.

There are many of you who have been given tasks to complete in this lifetime and your busy human schedules interfere. Please remember that these delays slow down our work as well.

Many of you will begin to receive visits from our Allies, as some of you already have. We ask you to consider the urgency of keeping your commitments.

As always, we remind you that we are here to assist you and your guides as well. You must simply remember to ask.

We have also paid attention to the fact that many humans choose to work with angels instead of using the term "guides." The fact is that we just ask you to begin working.

It is our hope, as the Community of Spiritual Masters, that Oneness be achieved in a way that is promoted through harmony with us as well as the Off-Earth Allies who are here to help.

We will speak with you again on this matter. Some of you are not ready to hear all of the truth. Some are. Those who are, please stand up and share with others what we are trying to convey to you.

Master Yeshua

Omstara ...

Let us begin with the most obvious ... how are we different from one another?

Well, it is a matter of degree really, in evolution, for we are not different in time. Meaning that in time, you too will be the same as we are now. We were once in your position, thus we were once the same as you. Time and evolution gradually transformed our natures and we evolved into who we are now.

Yet we are still your brethren. You could compare us to two siblings in one family, many years apart in age. Take the younger child for instance, a wee baby in diapers and the constant care of its mother or another caretaker. It relies upon another to feed it, to bathe it, to spend time with it and to look after its welfare. Should this child have an older brother at the university level, this brother would be able to perform all of these activities by himself for himself, and in fact for others too. The elder brother would look quite different from his younger sibling, have hair, more distinctive features, even some wrinkles perhaps.

When it comes to communication, the baby cannot yet express itself fully. It is still learning to make sounds, to form words and speak. The elder brother, however, is fully able to communicate, to make sounds, to make speech, to sing, yell or whisper. The vast difference in their communication levels can be compared to the difference in the communication levels of humanity and its elder brethren ... the Community of Spiritual Masters and the Off-Earth Allies.

The differences in our appearance may not be as vast as those of a baby relative to an adult, for in equal terms of age, the adults of all these civilizations will look quite similar for the most part. Some civilizations will look rather different, but that is another discussion.

In discussing our differences, we can see that we have many similarities and that we elder brethren are simply at what would be the university level compared to your toddler level. And you will grow in time to be at the university level. It is a natural progression. Some of humanity is almost there and those of humanity who we are able to communicate with will act as liaisons between our cultures, bridges between our worlds, to help facilitate a smooth and fruitful communication process.

It is necessary to have intermediaries, for without them we would not be able to communicate ... just as a baby cannot communicate with its elder brother and vice versa. Please do not mistake what I am saying: we do not consider you children. I am simply making a comparison between our modes of communication and how they develop.

We are primarily a telepathic culture. Humanity will attain this telepathic communication in time. At this point, however, there are some amongst humanity who are capable of telepathic communication as well as other forms of exchange that allow for fluid communications between our cultures. This requires years of training and physiological adjustments, much like an athlete training for your Olympics.

Certain representatives of humanity have taken this mental / energetic training and can act as conduits to deliver our messages to you as well as delivering your messages to us. This is in the early stages of development, but it is taking a very positive course indeed.

I thank you.

Maitreya ...

There are many stories told about the Community of Spiritual Masters and our Off-Earth Allies – stories that are closer to the truth and stories that are widening the gap between humanity and us.

It is time to lift the veil.

Let us start with a question: Why are there myths?

Since starting to disseminate information about ourselves via this website, we have disclosed information about the fall of Atlantis – only pieces of information so far, not the complete discourse of events. It was said that the relationship between humanity and its allies was severed, that it broke down. Everything came to a standstill; everybody was in shock about the escalation of human behavior and action.

However, as history indicates, there was always a handful of trustworthy souls who willingly incarnated into the aftermath of those dreadful events, souls willing to hold the delicate and intricate link between the dimension of humanity, or what was left of it, and the dimensions in which long-term friends and allies reside.

Those souls were trusted by us, hence we accepted and supported their mission from the start. However, being mostly on their own with the knowledge and understanding of their assignments, be it in part or as a whole, they could not make themselves known to their respective societies. Most of them started their assignments as “spearheads incognito,” which was the nickname we had given them.

Those trusted souls became teachers or priests, healers, advisers, or in some cases, hermits. They were also called seers and prophets and some were known as the oracles of ancient societies. They were the ones people sought advice from when nobody else knew how to proceed.

Unfortunately, those brave souls had a lot of challenges to face while incarnate, challenges that were and are still part of physical incarnation – challenges like temptation, ego, selfishness, hunger for power and the like – all vices that can divert the soul’s mission.

Or the challenge came from within their respective societies: nobody was willing to hear wise words of advice and caution as everybody was busy running their life, neither open nor willing to connect to the soul, to the heart, and listen to the words of those who were our spearheads incognito.

Many of our incarnated friends packaged the information we gave them in stories, in fairy tales, to make them easier to digest by those who were listening. The information was provided by us and our allies in different forms: via conscious conversation, via dreams, via visions and in some cases as downloads, which means that the person received our message in one enlightened moment, understood completely the content, and translated it into a digestible format for those who were willing to listen.

At any moment in time in those days past, we had about 20 of those souls on the ground, incarnated in the dense physical world, holding the etheric linkage to other realms. It was risky both for them and for us as humanity had fallen into the dark ages of consciousness. Nothing was easy to convey any more but we were committed to keeping this etheric linkage alive, come what may.

Myths about us, our allies and those who were holding this etheric linkage with us were created ... stories that were sparks of light, sparks of raised frequency embedded in the words of those myths with the intention of feeding human consciousness with light energy during the eons of darkness that befell this planet.

We, the Community of Spiritual Masters and our Allies, stepped back from the aftermath of the fall of Atlantis and decided to be observers only. But this was hard on us. It was hard to see humanity drift deeper and deeper into the darkness of spiritless materiality and further away from the evolutionary path that had been laid out by the Divine Plan. So we had to come up with a rescue plan, a plan that had to be presented to, negotiated and accepted by the highest governing body of this planet, those beings who guide us as we guide humanity. And that we did. And our plan was accepted.

And so we started to work with those brave souls who became our spearheads incognito, the spearheads of light.

It was not always easy for those souls to stay on their path as the inner and outer conflict they found themselves in could take over, influencing their soul missions and weakening them in their commitment and perseverance, their honesty to the Divine Plan and their devotion. It was a constant battle they had to fight – a battle with themselves to stay on the path and a battle with those around them who could stop our messengers by belittling and humiliating them.

Human history is full of narrated episodes about these souls, who they were, what information they conveyed, and how they were perceived by their respective countrymen and women.

There were those whose etheric link to us was stronger and others whose link was weaker. And then there were those who pretended to have a link to us but did not have one – people who were greedy and wanted to gain personal profit from others by pretending to be one of the selected ones.

As mentioned earlier, depending on the strength of the etheric link, the commitment, perseverance, honesty and devotion of those souls, those spearheads incognito, and depending as well on their individual courage and ability to interpret visions and downloads, they released the information we released to guide society mostly as tales, allowing the light energy that was embedded in those tales to reach those who listened

Those tales continued to be passed down from generation to generation and each generation customized the tales to their current state of awareness and perception of society, to their perception of good and bad.

This was the course of events. We had three main facts that needed to be conveyed in messages to our incarnate spearheads:

1. we needed to present advice on any given situation that we were asked to comment on;
2. we needed to present our existence in the information – camouflaged sometimes but noticeable;
3. we needed to embed the frequency of light into our information to reach those who were listening to our spearheads.

Now you can do your own analysis and see which advice, tales and myths came from us and which were man-made. Those that came from us will resonate with you immediately as the light frequency is activating dormant indicators within your etheric field. You just know that this is a piece of information that came from us.

The same is still true today. The information that we are currently releasing through souls who have agreed to be our messengers – the interface from us to you today – this information also carries the frequency of light embedded within the words you are hearing or reading. This embedded light frequency should activate your spiritual indicators and resonate with you, too.

Trust your instincts, your intuition, your gut feeling is my recommendation when hearing stories about past or present encounters with us! Feel inside yourself to acknowledge or not the information provided in those stories.

Don't be overwhelmed by what you are learning – learning in and from those stories but most importantly, what you are learning about yourself: your reaction, your acceptance or rejection. Ask questions about yourself to understand your roots, the source that we all share.

This is my request – be sensitive when your spiritual indicators are awakening and starting to resonate with information that you might have rejected before. This is a sign of your awakening ... and it is a good sign!

I thank you for your attention.
