My dear friends from planet Earth,

From the distance, my colleagues and myself watch with supreme interest and attention the process that the human family is going through. Sufficient signals and indications have been and are being given to the human family in order that you can ask for our help and guidance in changing your evolution. Finally, after several fruitless years, we are beginning to see positive results, which fills us with hope and joy.

This has come about thanks to the intense work that many groups on and off Earth are doing to cleanse and clarify the energies surrounding the planet so that finally, more and more glimmers of light are coming through crevices in the crust of obsolete, toxic and negative thinking that you have created around her. These glimmers are becoming more and more visible from our distance. They are the sparks of light of your souls, the purest essence of your Higher Selves, struggling to come out and shine in your lives and allow you to receive, assimilate, integrate and put into practice the Principle of Unity amongst the siblings that you all are. Our hope is that these sparks become ever more numerous and powerful.

The light is becoming stronger, more and more cleansing is being accomplished, and there is more conscious awareness building every day. This effort that part of the human family is making to come out of the chaos, to change and move forward, moves us to cautiously bend the Cosmic Laws in order to help you. And we are doing this with extreme joy because finally, we are receiving a response. It is not enough yet for us to fully come out in the open, but it is slowly growing.

So I ask myself about the future that awaits you. If we continue to see unmistakable signs of awakening and growing light amongst the human family, if we consider how all of us are committing to help you awaken your awareness, I can say, I can expect, that the future that awaits you, even though on a long- term basis, will be a positive and good one.

It is a hard battle, and not only a battle against darkness and negativity, but also a battle against yourselves to open your hearts, to dismiss all of the frustrating and thwarted education you have received, all of those shallow principles and useless patterns of behavior that no longer serve their purpose and that have taken you, and are still taking you, deeper into the chaos you are experiencing.

When you become aware for the first time of your soul's light, that tiny spark of light in the heart, and of what this means, the change begins for you. You won't be able to turn your back on it because you will never want to live in the darkness again and you will search for those who feel like you. You will understand in a different way the news that you get from the media, you will realize the filth, the tricks in politics, in the economy, in common beliefs, in everything that binds and influences the energy grid surrounding humanity.

You see the spark, you look at it with eyes wide open, you become aware of reality as it truly is and not as your decision-makers present it to you, and the need arises in you for a deep change. This is what we are observing and what will be, we wish and hope, the future for the human family. It will take time, it will be slow, but the more human beings awaken to their own light, discover the essence of their souls and open the eyes of their bodies and their souls, the easier it will be to reach that bright future that we predict and that we all wish to see happen.

Look inside yourselves and discover your tiny spark. Help others to discover theirs as well, and to open their eyes to a change for good. The more of you opening your eyes, the more light that will be generated, the more cleansing that will be accomplished, the quicker the journey will be.

And I say with all my heart to each and every one of you, I wish you a good journey.

Thank you,

Omstara

This month, I want to share with you my experiences along eons of time visiting different planets and civilizations, observing the various phases of their crises, the critical situations and processes in their evolutionary paths. I have been a counselor in many of these processes and an observer in many more. As part of my duties now, I am observing the evolution of planet Earth, of the kingdoms living here and especially of the human family.

It being true that the kingdoms living on planet Earth have each experienced a different evolution, I can say that the majority of them are in a very advanced evolutionary state, and I can say that the only thing stopping Earth's evolution as a whole is the human family. So far, nothing new. We have spent months talking about this.

The human family stands at a critical moment in the battle to leave old patterns behind and move forward. It is a critical moment that many, many planets and their inhabitants have gone through. It is a critical moment because members of the human family – their numbers growing every day more important and consistent – are becoming aware of the need for change, are considering what it will take to move forward and are preparing for this change. This is great progress, progress that is growing at a swift pace. And the growing awareness that things are so bad that there is no other way out but to change is, fortunately, highly contagious.

There are many lightworkers among you, people who have been working for years and years, working, sowing, being contagious. Their combined impact was very slow in the beginning, but like the ripples from a stone thrown into a pond, it has grown larger and larger, reaching more and more people. The work of these lightworkers, pioneers in awakening consciousness and becoming aware of the problems the human family is facing today, is praiseworthy. I want to thank them for their immense service. Nowadays, there is a multitude of groups working and a multitude of individuals changing themselves and changing, as much as they can, their surroundings, following the advice that we have repeatedly been transmitting for many, many years.

With this flow of awakening consciousness becoming so strong on this planet at this moment, the future that the human family can expect is a promising future. It is a complicated future and one that leaves much yet to be accomplished, needs much to be changed and overcome. But there is hope and it is thanks to all of you moving forward the work on Earth and also, thanks to all of us working Upstairs. It is teamwork. And as you say, "Numbers count." We must all be focused on this.

This is why we want to be known, better and more deeply known, not only amongst the lightworkers of different beliefs but to the public in general. Known for our ability to guide and assist you, but without your fearing us. One of the main tasks for lightworkers is to undo this belief that everything that comes from off-Earth, from other dimensions, is bad and harmful to the human family – it is the task of making us known, and making known the undoubted benefits of collaborating with human souls from different dimensions.

It is with great joy that I can say today that we consider ourselves a team with the lightworkers of planet Earth. And this provides us with much encouragement and the spirit to continue working from our side. It is vital that we support each other.

I trust and hope that our collaboration will develop in this way, now and in the near future.

Your teammate in this journey bids you farewell.

This month's topic is the many possible futures coalescing for humankind at the tipping point. I could state the obvious and say your future is one future only and that it grows fairly and by law out of your past and present. I could re-iterate that there are two distinct pathways available to humanity and that the choice is yours: to slide into annihilation where all life on this planet perishes utterly, or to move forward into a New Time and a New Civilization where the keynotes are justice, unity and, ultimately, glory. Yes, glory – if you choose wisely and set about fulfilling the true needs and aspirations of the human family for peace and dignity for all.

I could point out that for yet a while, it will continue to seem like “the best of times and the worst of times” for this planet, all rolled into one, for this is indeed so. This is indeed so, I repeat, and that stark schism is becoming more evident to all. But this in itself is having a somewhat remarkable effect. While it is hardening the hearts of some, hardening them to stone and extreme action as they relentlessly pursue the avenues of destruction, at the same time it is opening not only the hearts but also the eyes of many, many, many more of you who are realizing that something must be done to stop the advance into chaos – and it cannot be sowing more chaos yet, cannot be stoking the fires of chaos.

Many, many of you are awakening to the realization that it is not retaliating against chaos with its own weapons and other subversion that is required, it is not binding chaos and holding it in check that will defeat it, but that to build a viable future, you need to infiltrate chaos with kindness, transform and literally dissolve it through the greater powers of inclusiveness, love and unity. Weak though this course may appear on the surface, it is the only viable one and once more, it is open for all to demonstrate in whatever ways you choose and are available to you. Did I not preach so long ago in Palestine, “Love thine enemy, love one another, do unto others as you would have done unto you”?

These fundamental words have not changed, nor will I be able to stop repeating my same appeals for yet a while before the job is done. But more love is being demonstrated as outward conditions deteriorate, and that too many of you can see and sense. There is a softening occurring as hearts meet in the midst of the escalating tragedy and horror, which is helping to break down the old and rigid camps and to anchor the new cornerstone of good will.

And now, my friends, widespread aid and assistance of an extraordinary nature are yours for the asking and the taking. Help is yours to command from myself and my colleagues in the Community of Spiritual Masters and from our Off-Earth Allies, supported by the Angelic and Devic Kingdoms.

Choose wisely, my friends, and the future becomes a most beautiful and vibrant paradox. For inasmuch as humanity unites as One – in consciousness, in remedial action and in joining hands with us and the guidance we bring to offer – in that very measure is there created the opportunity for Earth’s multifold and ordained destiny to manifest for each and every one of her creations.

My wish is that your journey into this divine future be swift and true. It is the chance for all the kingdoms of Earth, and for each and every blessed human soul, to find your way Home at last.

I bid you stand firm and loving toward one another. I ask that you expand your role in service to the one human family, lending your unique gifts to the whole, remembering always that you can be the one voice, the one smile, the one word that brightens someone’s day.

Be assured in this simple yet noble endeavor that you have my abiding love and support.

Yeshua

We are awaiting a tipping point in a surge from humanity to put forth a cry for help, an appeal to our brotherly nature so as to be sure and certain the need is recognized, and so that we may skirt the binding Cosmic Laws against interference. We deeply wish to help humanity on a larger front but are held in place by the energy-centered values of Source, who has laws in regard to our involvement.

These restrictive laws are indeed in place so that the host civilization is not unfairly bolstered to levels of evolution it has indeed not yet acquired and therefore cannot support. Yet, through gentle and gracious guidance, a culture can reach the next step in evolution quite swiftly and therefore earn the backbone to support this new level.

We indeed wish to help humanity earn the backbone it will need, for we cannot do it for you, but nor can humanity develop it without some coaching. Just as every athlete needs a good coach to attain an Olympic standard, so must humanity have a good coach to prosper to its heights. Humanity fails to recognize this fact when it comes to life in general, so we use this sports analogy.

Every skill you have can be sharpened and honed and enhanced through the already learned and practiced abilities of a coach. We highly encourage your engagement with a coach – be it your soul, your conscience, your guides or someone wise who is incarnate – in how you go about developing your energetic relationships with yourself, with those you encounter daily, within your community and further afield. As one coach is limited in the scope of their reach, we encourage you to request on your behalf that we ‘coaches’ who are further along the path may help to foster these skills in humanity as a whole. There are many who simply do not realize the benefit of reaching their potential, and indeed all of humanity’s potential.

We are here to help, but we need your help to open the door. This is a simple, very simple tactic indeed for procuring a high-level outcome. Perhaps there is no higher outcome with so little effort.

We are prepared and we are standing by. We do not wish to see our younger cousins suffer. Indeed, we would thrive as well on seeing you prosper with great success and would support your advances thrice-fold.

Do not underestimate the power of your voice, my friends. You are powerful beings in creating, so create together this thought of attracting and welcoming our coaching to your great benefit.

Several among us have offered brief mantra or prayers that satisfy Source's rules for authorizing intervention. I am told they will be published in the Open Forum section of this issue. Please take a look at them in the hope that you will find one or more that suit your personal preference to use as an appeal to the coaching staff we have to offer.

Thank you,

My article last month set out the stark realities engaging WeSeekToServe readers as part of the human family at this time. I do repeat that conditions are dire and time is running out, but I would present now the converse view. Time is running out, yes, for the old order, but it is doomed anyhow. Better to embrace the future in the making, for it too looms. And it looms resplendent if humanity can rise to the challenge.

A Golden Age is on the horizon, and it is yours for the making. You have the ingredients of a cosmic recipe, you have the necessary skills and are rapidly developing your awareness of the severity of your current plight. Hopefully, too, you will request help in refining your understanding of how to best and most swiftly create a new and better world for all. As you know, we of the Community of Spiritual Masters and your Off-Earth Allies stand on guard to assist you. Throughout all of cosmos, we are family.

So what to do? Strengthen, please, your invitation for us to stand openly at your side. We can bend but we cannot infringe Cosmic Law in this respect. I invite you to consider Sho's comments and the alternative forms of requests for help that appear in this issue's Open Forum.

Understand, too, that you count as an individual, whatever your particular setting and circumstances. Make known that you believe we can be called upon to openly help, for your friends and loved ones know you are not crazy. However shocking your hints may seem at first, they will ponder and perhaps open a space in their hearts and minds, open to the possibility of our presence among you as guides and advisors.

If you are actively engaged in some transformational activity or service, which most WSTS readers are, please continue or broaden your scope. We need people, both in the trenches to build the new forms and making heard their voices to break down the old. Decide not to settle. Know that you are not alone, that whatever you are doing to build a better future is on track, and embrace change.

Resolve to play the game of life instead of bleakly hunkering down, and let life course through you. In that way – in trust – can you access the great current of the future now forming. "All hands on deck," is now the rallying cry. Surely you can hear the call.

May you continue to transform your reality, individually and collectively, and more fully open to your divine potential. In some ways, this is not easy. You will have to overcome conditionings that your societies have used to control you to date, often without your knowledge or consent. They are busy remaining nimble at spinning their craft while the Titanic sinks.

No, my friends, you deserve better and you can accomplish the leap. Continue to expand your view, your awareness, and understand your power. Let no day pass without an act of service, yes. But also, lend your mind and all its gifts to shaping the new civilization, the new time. In both these ways, through your actions and your thoughts, and especially by combining them, you can continue to help dispel the darkness full-bore, to lift the murky cloak so that it can be fractured into particles of light. Your futures then stretch out unlimited.

You have much to offer in stepping even more boldly into your current mission, knowing that this – the creation of a new light for humanity – you and more and more like you are together bringing about.

May that realization be the wind beneath your sail. My blessing upon you.

Maitreya*
