A Global Network Of Light

OUR VISION – A NETWORK WITHIN A NETWORK

Picture a network and this network has seven-plus billion nodes of intersection. Sometimes they are clumped together and sometimes they are more distant from one another, but there are seven-plus billion little nodes in this energetic network. Some of these nodes are brighter than others, and sometimes there is a grouping of darkness and sometimes there is a grouping of light, lightworkers that are close to one another.

Now, imagine that every little node that is light, light of a small degree or light of a large degree, every node that is light becomes connected each to the other within the network that already has them connected. But the nodes that are light, imagine them reaching out and seeking one another, reaching out and strengthening the energy connect that exists between them simply because they are here and incarnate. See those nodes connect and strengthen, and the light flowing from each node makes every single light brighter because the light is shared and becomes self-generating. It ripples through the entire network from light to light to light creating a brilliant white, uninterrupted band of light flowing round and round and round within this network.

Sho (from the Pleiades)

Dear Readers, this is Mother Mary.

In today's chaotic world, each lightworker is stressed to the limit to deal with whatever aspect of the plan's work has been delegated to them. With some, it is a matter of their clientele and the counseling they give their clients. With others, it is indeed publishing and teaching to a broader audience rather than someone in particular. And with some, it is simply carrying on as a lightworker bringing light to every aspect of those they interact with normally in the day-to-day course of events that unfold as their life at this time.

Every lightworker is doing their very best to bring forward the forces of light and to shine that light into the darkness and to help humanity find a path forward. It is unfortunate that humanity has reached such a chaotic state that this alone is not enough.

For the benefit of whole human family and to enhance our ability to work effectively with the thousands of dedicated workers bringing light to this planet, we need to change our approach. And we need lightworkers to change their focus. Together, we need to begin actively building a new, comprehensive, globally cohesive network of lightworkers.

STEP ONE OF THREE

Now, every lightworker undoubtedly knows at least one or two other lightworkers personally and they speak of their own work and of the work that is needed on Earth today. What we will be asking and what is needed is that individually or in the comfortable groupings and networks that exist now, the individuals or these collegial groups and networks each reach out to a lightworker they know of but do not know personally and make a contact to extend the network.

Everyone doing their own work is already saddled with their own work. But the time has come that we must draw all these pieces of light together and find the glue that holds these pieces together as part of the plan for the human family of this planet. Step Two covers how the focus of all lightworkers needs to change so that we, from our perspective, can truly leverage the incredible energy of light that is being brought already into this planet.

The point, however, is that this light is refracted rather than made a laser beam. It is refracted by the many different focuses that lightworkers have and this is the way the plan was intended to unfold.

DETOUR NEEDED – THE OBJECTIVE REMAINS

As living human beings, you understand that plans change, that the results of freewill decisions create changes in plans just as a detour in the road – a flash flood, fixing a pothole, road construction – all of these will change a motorist's plan to get from one point to another. It is sometimes a plan that was made without the motorist's knowing to block this road and force a detour, and sometimes it is an act of nature. The point being that the detour must be taken. And that is what has happened to the plan for the human family.

The objective has not changed. We are looking at a new world with a higher vibration, a new world that creates a warm, loving beautiful place where each soul has the opportunity to grow in its own journey and remain a part of a group and have the environment in which that growth can take place, in which karma can be balanced, in which decision-makers and teachers can bring to the full the potential of every single soul. This is the New World.

That objective has not changed but the route that we must take to get there has changed, and that because of a complicated interwoven domino effect of freewill decisions. And you have an intersecting design of dominoes ... or whatever image you wish to use for the complicated ramifications of "decisions made here, decisions made there, decisions made someplace else" that were not the decisions that the original plan had in mind, all because free will exists.

So we must respond. And we would have on our side all the light coming into this planet through the hundreds and thousands of lightworkers who exist on this planet, so that we can begin organizing, developing a cohesive, global network. This network will help us have a laser beam focus into the obstructions of the darkness to break them apart rather than the refracted light we have now because each is working in their own way.

I wish to encourage you. I wish every one of you the strength and confidence to begin considering a network of lightworkers that through personal contact can encircle this planet as you reach out to those you know and those you know of and begin to focus on the same objective.

NEXT STEPS

My colleagues will begin to cover those objectives in steps two and three, but I wish to tell you how ardently I support this, how much your work means to the breaking up of the chaos and darkness that is surfacing at this time. We made it clear in the May issue of WeSeekToServe.com that the darkness is being shaken free and surfacing and we need to break it up and help it dissolve and vanish.

You can do that, you who are lightworkers, whether you are working in a designated neighborhood in a set occupation, or whether you are on a broader stage with a broader reach. If we can build that network, then much can be done. We can do this all together. With you helping us in this way, we can more easily help you. But I will leave that to my colleagues to explain.

Please understand the love and appreciation and gratitude I send to you who are loyal, earnest, committed lightworkers. I thank you.

This is Master Morya.

It is one thing for lightworkers to contact one another and begin to go beyond their own personal friendships to contact someone and be aligned with someone they know of but do not know personally, to reach out and find a way to contact, and to thus build a communication that did not exist before. That is one step. It is quite another step to begin to unify this refracted light that is coming into the planet.

STEP TWO OF THREE

Picture a prism that takes a strong white light and breaks it into the beautiful colors of the rainbow. The beautiful colors of the rainbow serve a purpose and they have served a purpose over time. But the time has come to pull away that prism of de facto individuality that exists among the thousands of groups and individuals who bring light to humanity. The time has come, in addition to all that you are doing already, to unify upon a vision, and to keep that strong white light that comes through into the human family unified.

That is the step we need to take, because we need that unified strength to radiate that light into the shadows, into the darkness that has been created by contradictory freewill decisions and I would say even by unexpected consequences of well-intended decisions. It is a matter of breaking up the darkness that is surfacing and addressing the freewill decisions that are complicating that darkness and falling under its spell and making more freewill decisions that, rather than breaking up and dissipating the darkness into light, are letting it coalesce.

Lightworkers already share one unifying concept: the expansion of consciousness of souls living on this planet. That is being addressed in many different ways by many different lightworker networks and individual lightworkers, some teaching and enabling the creation of other lightworkers, some shining their own light through the day as Mother Mary has brought forward.

What we would need from our side are two more unifying factors: the maintenance in mental matter of the global lightworker network and a specific focus on the unity of the human family.

CARVE OUT A SMALL PORTION OF YOUR LIGHT WORK

No matter what you are doing to help the human family now and the individual members of the human family, the ones you contact, the ones who contact you, no matter what you are doing now, please carve out a portion of your light work to consider the network of lightworkers to which you belong. Energy follows thought.

Find the network in your mind's eye. Consider the global network of lightworkers within the unified network of the human family. Think of yourselves as the major arteries and veins of the human body bringing light to humanity. Get yourselves organized to spend at least part of your light work energy in whatever way you can agree to among those you actually contact, but have the same focus and that is the unity of the human family. And however you choose to do this, it is acceptable.

Focusing on the unity of the human family of Earth helps sustain existing unity, helps sustain unity already growing and creates the environment for new unifying actions to emerge.

If you are working to expand the consciousness of individuals to help them grow into lightworkers, then incorporate a focus on the unity of the human family, the energetic unity of the human family and the fact, the fact – I will emphasize that a third time – the very fact that your heart is energetically part of the very same network that every other incarnate human being in this family belongs to. This is simply an energetic truth. Think of that network of seven billion-plus individual nodes – all connected.

And at the soul level, the same unification exists. Shift your focus to spend some time, somehow, in your light work, building the thoughts and the strength of unity, the unity of the human family, those incarnate and those discarnate. The unity exists.

It is very easy to discuss the differences and the different needs, particularly if you work with clients and you are a teacher and your focus is bringing forward individuals. Or maybe your focus is bringing forward groups, but bring them forward as members in unity of one human family and focus on the unity and focus your light work back into the unity of the human family.

YOUR LIGHT WORK CONTINUES – ENHANCED

That is my part of the message: the focus, active focus, active light work, however you do your light work, whether that is through meditation, whether you are writing, whether you do it in song. However you do your light work, shift the focus to unity. Make unity part of your light work.

And once you have done that, begin to expand the part that unity is in the work you do, the focus on unity. And as you expand your network, spend a fraction of your time in realizing your place in the network of lightworkers surrounding this planet. Picture, image, speak – whatever works for you – the unity of the network of lightworkers influencing the members of the human family to the realization of the unity that exists.

That is my message. It is one that the human family needs very, very strongly at this point, particularly for anyone with leadership responsibilities, decision-making responsibilities. Remember the unity and work that into your light work. And remember the network of lightworkers and picture all these workers, all of them around this planet, each contributing not only to the network of lightworkers, but to the network of the human family and the creation of a consciousness of unity. Thank you.

VISION OF THE GLOBAL NETWORK IN ACTION

What does this lightworkers' network do? Well, it certainly chases the nearby shadows. But what this does energetically is create a magnetic attraction for those nodes who are not yet light, light being a lightworker consciously or not consciously connected to their soul, working consciously or unconsciously to bring light into this network: lightworker. For those who are not yet at that point of development but are close, this brilliant flowing band of interconnected lightworkers, this uninterrupted connection that flows round and round, creates a magnetic attraction that spreads and begins to activate those nodes who are yet not given over to darkness, but nor are they light.

They are neutral, a beautiful, beautiful neutral. But they become brighter. They are attracted because the environment of light, the magnetic attraction that you create, brings them forward and touches the environment in which they live, the connection that passes through them because they are connected to you. And they become brighter. Whether they realize it or not, their energy joins the white light network. This is the image I would leave with you.

Sho (from the Pleiades)

This is Lord Maitreya.

You have heard what we intend to do. What we are asking you to do consciously is reach out and connect with one another and then together create in your minds the concept of a band of lightworkers circling this planet, a band of lightworkers who each spend a part of their light work effort bringing through the concept of unity of the human family of Earth, the energetic unity of the human family.

This is the concept that we wish you to spend at least part of your lightworker time anchoring here on Earth, and working together with other lightworkers, to create that band of light circling the planet. And together, you each focus a portion of your time, as much as you can, as much as is practical given your work, focus on anchoring the concept of the energetic unity of the human family.

Those are steps one and two.

STEP THREE OF THREE

The next step is that we in the Community of Masters and Off-Earth Allies work with you from the inner planes. With this network, you will be creating an environment in the inner worlds as well as spreading the word in the dense physical. We will strengthen the continuous loop that is this network of light.

From the strength of that environment, we have more influence with those who do not consciously sustain the global network of light. We can then use our energies to reach out to this next layer and work with those who do not realize that they are doing extensive work bringing the light and serving the plan for the human family.

So together, you with this new focus and we working with you to strengthen that new focus, we work together to stabilize a strong and viable environment, an environment that supports the concept, the fact of the unity of the human family.

LEVERAGING THE LIGHT BROUGHT BY ALL

The very existence of this network of light consciously maintained influences the receptivity of those I call undeclared lightworkers and we can take advantage of that. We can reach out and influence, as appropriate, the multitude of workers who are just doing what they know is right. They are doing what something inside tells them they need to be doing and what that something is serves the consciousness expansion of the human family.

We can determine who among them are going to be the most effective messengers for us. We can pick and choose which of these workers we would activate more strongly and in what way we would activate them in order to better support the plan. These workers are guided by their souls and the power and light of the network strengthen the influence we have through those souls. Or we can get soul permission for more direct guidance.

MAXIMUM RETURN FOR MINIMUM INVESTMENT

So the third step in this revised focus for all lightworkers is working together, working with each other so that even a small fraction of what you are doing is focused on what the global continuum of lightworkers is doing in common and that is spreading the concept of the unity of the human family. And we on our side can leverage that concept and begin to work with the unified band of lightworkers circling the planet to strengthen their common resolve a hundredfold. But the resolve and the network must be there for us to strengthen.

That is what we are asking. And that is what will result from what we are asking: that we will be able, through this mechanism, to begin to draw the human family closer together so that the human family, together, works at raising the consciousness of those who are currently at the lowest frequency of this family. We will bring the entire family forward. We will help heal those who need healing. I'm not speaking of physical healing. I'm speaking of those whose souls are creating dense, dark karma that will need to be balanced. We will help heal them so that they can begin to do this balancing work.

And the human family, which is one energetically, will move forward as one, move together away from the darkness that breeds self-destruction and into the light of the New World.

That is what we are asking you to do. And once you take those steps, we will be able to work more effectively both through you and with you. Thank you.

CREATE THE NETWORK – HELP US HELP YOU

You who are reading this can help consciously to create this network. It's a network within a network. Put your imaginations to work and see what happens in your imagination as every node of light in the entire human family reaches out to another node of light until they are all interconnected and the light shines brightly and flows into the major network and activates others. Picture this, please.

Work with this image as often as you can. When you have a moment and your mind is not occupied otherwise with urgent matters of living, take a moment to picture this network of light within the network of humanity and realize that you are one of those nodes, that you can connect and help strengthen the network of light with those you know and those you don't know.

And by strengthening that network of light, you are strengthening the entire human family. Think of the results.

You bring light into the shadows. You bring forth and call forth those who are on the cusp of becoming lightworkers. You create an environment that makes it easier to distribute light. All of this because you become conscious and consciously feed the network of light within the network of humanity.

Think of all the ways this will help, this will help us help you and this will definitely help you help others among you, strengthen who you are individually and most definitely strengthen who you are as you work together.

Category: Challenges Facing the Human Family

In our main article on the new Global Network of Light, I spoke of unity. I would like to expand on that and thus I have been given another place in this issue.

I would like you to please think of a bottle of water. This is a clear plastic bottle like the kind that you can get from your grocer or from some institution.

That water is in a container and that water has a unity. Now, you can open the cap and you can take a little dropper, an eyedropper, and you can drop two drops of iodine into that water and just watch what happens. Now, that iodine does not on its own, initially, spread evenly through the water. Parts of that water remain clear. And parts do not. And if you leave this water long enough, you will find the iodine basically disperses through the entire bottle, but not necessarily evenly.

When that iodine is initially put into the water and you look at the water, what do you say? Chances are you say something to the effect that this water has been made unpotable. It is not something you would wish to drink. Yet part of that water is perfectly clear initially.

That water is unity. Now, if you take that same eyedropper and you have a pond of water that is crystal-clear, you can see down to the bottom of the small pond and it's clear enough but deep enough that you can take a canoe ride in this little pond. And if you drop two drops of iodine into this pond, what happens? Well, part of the pond remains perfectly clear and eventually that iodine is diluted.

Now what would you do if you wanted, in your bottle of water, to get rid of the iodine? It would be very difficult, even if one part of the water is clear. And in the pond? Well, chances are that iodine would eventually not make a great deal of difference. But if you took one of those big tanker trucks, the kind that would carry multiple gallons of water into an area where water is scarce or the kind that carry milk from a processing plant or from the collection point to a processing plant where it is bottled and you put that much iodine into your pond, you would notice it and it would be very difficult to clean up.

My point is this: the unity of the human family, the physical, energetic unity responds like that bottle of water or that pond. Unity is physical. It is not something that you think, it is not an attitude. It is physical.

I strongly suspect that as much as we have said “energetically, the human family is One,” very few of you have gotten your minds around the Oneness of the human family and acknowledge heart and mind that every child abused, every woman raped, every man murdered has an impact on every member of the human family.

Likewise, every individual spreading light, everyone smiling from the joy of their heart, everyone reaching out a hand to help someone else stand straighter, that too impacts every member of the human family.

The trick of this and the huge challenge is to realize that all the violence, all the anger, all the hatred – whether it is in a House of Parliament or an argument on the street or on the front lines of a battlefield – this impacts the entire human family. And for now, someone living far away from these events can say that they are clear, their lives go on as normal. That is like the clear water in that bottle of water when that iodine is initially squeezed in through the eyedropper. A lot of that water can say, “Hey, my life goes on as normal.”

It is through the global network anchoring light on this planet that the contamination can be contained and cleared. That is the benefit, the bottom-line benefit of the Global Network of Light that we propose. Lightworkers working together unifying on two issues: the fact that a global lightworker network is under construction and can be brought to fruition and secondly, the physical unity of the human family. This is not a mindset, this is not a warmth in your heart. Those are the results. Until you internalize the fact that the human family is physically one and that what happens in one place affects eventually the entire human family, until you accept that fact, you are not facing the unity and the impact and implication of unity of the human family.

And it is the global lightworker network that will be so strong we will be able to increase the amount of light coming into this planet and that incoming light is the way the lightworkers live their lives and work with one another. This is what will push back the darkness and decontaminate what has been already contaminated.

Unity is physical, it isn't just something you say or feel or talk about. Those actions and feelings and mindsets are a feedback loop once the reality of the physical unity is accepted. The more that unity is accepted, the warmer your heart feels, the broader your mind will be as your consciousness is expanded and you look at unity, which will in turn increase the number of people who comprehend the physical aspect of unity like the water in that bottle. That is unity. That is a symbol of unity, and what happens to only one part of that water can help you decide whether or not you intend to drink any of it.

Please consider and create your own image of unity.

I thank you. I thank you for listening to me. I am passionate about this topic.

In the new stage of the Earth's evolution that is beginning now, in which we want to create a global network of light on Earth, an open mind is a very necessary trait in all lightworkers. So far, each of you has done the best you could, either on your own or in small groups or medium-sized organizations, and the work has been very valid. But now, more than ever before, we need to unify the focus towards which we direct all that light.

As lightworkers, you know from your own experience, from the work you do, that when a few of you get together to do energy work – a healing or some other type of energy work – you know how strong and intense this work becomes when multiplied a hundred times. “Numbers count” as you say, and this is a great truth. So far, you have only small unified groups on Earth. It is an exercise in moving forward and progress for all lightworkers to have a sufficiently open mind and a small enough ego to be able to humbly accept getting together with other persons or groups who are doing work as well and all unifying with a common focus.

And that focus is the unification of the energy that each lightworker brings to Earth. The intensity and strength of the light from hundreds of thousands, from millions of lightworkers focusing on the same thing – the same objective of the unification of the human family – would not only be extraordinary but also the quickest possible means to help raise the frequency of humanity.

Since all lightworkers are part of the human family and are intertwined in the energy network of the human family, an increase in their vibration as a network would help to increase the energy vibration of the rest of the human family, those who haven't awoken yet or those who are only just starting out on the way to awareness, be it because they are doubtful or scared or due to ignorance. It does not matter, for as I have said before, this rise in vibration is contagious.

When someone perceives that fellow humans close to them are vibrating in a different way, when they feel that these others seem different, happier, more loving or compassionate, maybe they cannot define it as light, but they do know that something is different. And they know that they want to have that same “something” and participate in that “something” even if they do not know what it is. Then those people get attracted closer to the light and they join in, setting up their own connections with the network of lightworkers who are already working.

I have said that humility and lack of ego are required. The ego belongs to the physical part of the human body. It can shrink. When you do your spiritual work, you should ask that your ego be reduced to the minimum needed for human survival and that your Higher Self, the purest essence of your soul, occupy all the space in your being. From your Higher Self it is possible to unite, humbly and lovingly, with other people, other groups, other networks. This is not hard to do.

For this project of the Global Network of Light, we need that each of you transmit this message to every person or group of persons close to you with whom you have contact and even to some that you don't directly know yet. Share this message and this request and get the ball rolling, and then more and more people will join the project. This is what we are expecting and hoping for from you as lightworkers.

You have Social Media and your personal contacts to start rolling out this project. Nothing else is required to get the global network started but to share it, to explain what is needed and start working at it. Share your experiences and support each other.

The second part of the project is that each of the lightworkers and those persons you have contact with – people that read what you write or listen to what you say or even those with whom you communicate at the soul level – that each of you dedicate a fraction of your daily spiritual work to visualizing and asking for the unification of the human family, and to sending light to this project as well. Visualizations are always very powerful and they should be used, each one in its own way and time.

Let us launch this global project and let us watch how it develops and grows, how it positively influences the network of lightworkers on this planet and the human family in general. If necessary, we will suggest modifications and ways in which you can improve how you use this fraction of your time in doing this work to make it more effective. Visualizing the unity of the human family is not a difficult job but it is a necessary, essential and urgent job. Do not get lost in discussions on the how or where and when. It is imperative that the message get through as soon as possible in a clear and direct way.

With hope I await your collaboration on this new project to take the human family forward in its evolution.

I bid you farewell.

Category: Inspiration and Encouragement

Tabor here to speak for the other kingdoms sharing our precious earthly Mother and to add my entreaty to the appeals of my fellow panelists for the lightworkers of this planet to begin thinking as one and so constitute a unified body of light, of awareness, cell by lightworker cell, that will encircle our Mother with a new garment of mindfulness, respect and restoration.

As you know, I work closely with the devas and with the mineral kingdom and the mountains of the Earth. Many are the lightworkers tending her body, attempting to protect and make it well that all might live in harmony and thrive. But our Mother is in grave danger. And this because your kingdom, the human realm, is most perilously out of balance, even as the other kingdoms on their own – the mineral, the vegetal, the animal and the devic-angelic realms – on their own, are relatively in line with the Divine Plan for our Mother Earth.

And so I add my appeal for you who are lightworkers to begin to consciously coalesce – in your minds, with your unique and innate human powers to visualize and to intend – to form into one amalgamated, blended white light source, like pearls on a vibrant, pulsing string, and dwell in your heart space together. You do this by each continuing with your concrete actions to succour, heal and cleanse our Mother, but also now by reaching out mentally to other lightworkers as well, each of you contributing thus to distill, in the mind belt that surrounds this globe, the healing balm of Oneness.

And from there, with all the shining points coalescing into this network of light, please cast your net wider and direct that beam to cover all of humanity. Direct it to infiltrate and begin vanquishing the pall of negative thoughtforms blanketing this world and causing such turmoil and disarray.

For I tell you, as you strengthen in numbers and thus open the path for other human soul lights to kindle and join you, as the garment of light you are weaving breaks up and dissolves the darkness, not only will more and more human souls join in building this network of light, but so too will the devic elementals that build and hold the body of our Mother together have an opening to regain their balance.

And from this more even keel, the elementals can deftly go about their repair work, calming the tide of accidents, weather disruptions and natural calamities now so prevalent in your world. It is simple math: through your efforts, there opens a growing opportunity for collaboration between the human and devic kingdoms as light overtakes darkness.

You who are lightworkers have the power to reach out and together weave a blessed new future for our Mother as your network of light swells and spreads. As you personally go about your day, I invite you to try on for size that you are a unit of light in this emerging network, a shining pearl upon the string, not only as a lightworker but as a light builder as well.

And if that seems too abstract, try looking out through your own eyes and see what you see when you imagine yourself and all the world bathed in the new and more potent light. Should you get a moment or two to walk in the mountains I so treasure or through a peaceful place where there is stillness, or to rest by a cascading water source, try looking through your lightworker eyes at the simple beauty of life flowing all around you in this quiet, momentary oasis.

Carve out these small moments of unification and mindfulness, sense the growing Oneness no matter how fleetingly as you go about your day, and you will help draw the angels near, help the network of light to quicken and ultimately, help the One Human Family to find its way.

Your brother in the One Light,

Hello to all as we encircle this concept of continually connecting the sub-atomic light that benefits this planet and its peoples. It is our responsibility to direct you in this manner at this time and to stress the importance to the reader and the friends of the reader and the family of the reader that there is no time like the present to leverage a connecting concept to heal the entire planetary system and gather the strength to allow it to move forward altogether.

It's like holding one another's hand when you need to cross a swift-moving river. It gives you strength in numbers, strength through courage, strength through the bond of brotherhood or the bond of the situation, strength through a united front. This strength has many faces.

We need this 'many faces' concept to draw humanity out of its deep depths of despair and into the next phase of life.

Never before has such a demand been so needed as now, as the Earth changes and its peoples feel and respond to this. Never before has it been so important that humanity take stock of its attitude, leave disparaging behind and re-connect with its common needs and goals. The time is now.

Humanity needs to take stock of its future and how to get there. Thus we offer this simple plan to blend your many colors and approaches in such a way as to find the common touching point in an exercise that expands one's own methods without compromise. We know that you lightworkers have stridden long and hard and put great measure to your tasks. This has cemented many wonderful successes up to this moment.

The next step now is to leverage this by joining energetically in harmony with all others who take such pains to make a difference. Connect to your spiritual brothers and sisters with a gentle thought of love and appreciation for their methods and techniques, for their spirit and efforts. However you chose to think about them to find a connection is up to you as long as it works.

The many various thoughts and appreciations will have in common the thread of working toward the light, the thread of working for the common goal of humanity's success and unity, for through this true unity, humanity will garner the strength to cross the rushing stream.

To repeat: we ask that you spend but moments of your time to connect, to visualize, to meditate ... for we know that as lightworkers you already place heavy demands on yourselves for profits and measures to succeed. And while appearances may be dim at times, know that the energy always finds its mark.

Our hearts go out to you to lend you the courage, the strength and determination itself to do this grand work of blending all the many colors of your efforts into some semblance of a unified front. Just as each pixelated pin-dot on the screen makes up the whole picture when you stand back ... this is what we are asking you to do. Join the field of the one picture of humanity. Let it spread over the entire planet, end to end. You deserve this success and through your combined efforts shall have it indeed.

Thank you.
