Current World Affairs

As world events escalate, more and more people are asking the question “Why?” – Why does this happen? Why don't heads of countries collaborate more intensively to save this planet? I offer you my perspective.

By now the conscious observer of world events has concluded that the so-called “shift” is in full swing – a shift that is painful for much of the world's population. It is a shift that turns the traditional world order upside down, a shift that shakes the establishment's norms, rules, laws and traditions. The framework, the matrix of this planet is on the verge of being obsolete. Those who insist on holding on to their beliefs and values will have a much harder time than the free-thinkers who are currently the round pegs in square holes, as flexibility is now required – a flexibility that will allow a new and more cohesive humanity to take form and shape. Clinging to the old, imposing it on others, is not only a sign of inflexibility and stagnation, it is a sign of massive ego hunger and a dangerous demonstration of unwillingness to allow the Divine Plan to unfold.

What do we do?

We, the Earth Advisors, are on the alert. We hope and expect that more representatives of humanity who are either decision-makers or part of civil society are sensing the gargantuan responsibility that each individual has as part of the Earth's collective population to protect the viability of this planet and to help pave the way into a peaceful future.

There is no peace if you turn both or even one blind eye to situations that make you feel uncomfortable, expecting someone else to step in and speak on your behalf. This time has long passed. Each one of you has to accept and embrace your individual responsibility as a mature citizen of this planet and act accordingly.

You want to pull forward, leave this time of chaos and upheaval behind and assure a safe and peaceful future for your children? Then do something. Step out of your comfort zone and start recognizing and dealing with issues you care about, concerns that need to be approached, presented, discussed and agreed upon collectively to unite this planet.

Do approach these sensitive topics from your heart, not your mind, for you will then view them in a whole new light. Be not so hasty to judge and condemn in dealing with a challenging scenario but listen and tune into the other's viewpoint to better understand their conscious or unconscious perspective. Use your heart more than your brain.

Leave behind your own comfort zone, wealth and safety, and start thinking collectively. You are part of this planet and this planet is part of you. You and the planet are one. The same applies to everybody and everything, so make sure that you are operating from that perspective – from Oneness – all the time.

Since communication and collaboration with the decision-makers of this planet who are unwilling to invite us in is an ongoing challenge, we sadly made the decision to allow things to unfold in "classic human fashion" – and when I say "things," I mean events and experiences that are violent, painful and sad. These things will serve as a wake-up call, or so we hope. Over eons we have learned to acknowledge and accept that humanity has free will to suffer collectively before considering or even searching for alternatives – one of which is to accept our offer to guide you and for you to collaborate with us and with each other.

So, we are now in the position where we have to allow painful situations to unfold on planet Earth in the hope that those elected leaders we have been attempting to speak with will finally stand up, look at the situation at hand with hearts wide open, and reach out to collaborate with us and with their colleagues across the globe to find a way forward – a way out of collective disaster.

It is as painful for us to watch humanity go through these moments of suffering and despair as it is for you to experience them first-hand. However, we are fully aware that the situation on this planet needs to deteriorate further for humanity to fully awaken. We sadly must accept this and allow the pain and destruction to happen.

The sooner more people embrace and articulate the love that radiates from the divine spark at the core of their hearts, the sooner we can collaborate and guide you out of this self-inflicted chaos.

You now have technology that allows you to be aware of what is going on worldwide and to communicate 24/7 across the globe. Real and attempted ensorship of information posted on the worldwide web is part of the old world order – an order vested in safeguarding individual power and wealth for the few while ignoring the collective and its requirements, requests, wishes, hopes and dreams.

Those of you who live in the so-called free world, use your freedom and contemplate what it is you need to have in place for your children and grandchildren to live in a safe, free, healthy and peaceful environment. And once you have drawn up your personal list of prerequisites, share it with your neighbors – your local, regional, national and international neighbors. You will be surprised to see a common list of prerequisites emerging, one that applies to humanity as a race – to this globe universally, no matter where you were born or live.

If you want to know what is best for you, think of planet Earth first – what would be best for her? What is best for the planet will be best for each individual too, though not necessarily vice versa. What is good for the collective, for all of humanity, will be good for each individual. Reflect on this simple truth for a while, try it out, experience it first-hand in your day-to-day decision-making at home and at work. Grow into this new approach of considering first what is best for the whole. Adopting this perspective and allowing yourself to be guided by the divine spark at the core of your heart will safeguard you from abusing or harming others as you will be aligning yourself with the cosmic heart frequencies of humanity and the planet.

This is what I wish to convey to you today.

May you find peace in your heart and the courage to embrace your personal ability to change, to make changes and to assist all of humanity through this trying transition to unity and Oneness.
