

WE SEEK TO SERVE – OPEN FORUM

We Can Help ... If Ears Can Be Opened

Lord Maitreya

I wish to speak of realities that may spark in humanity the political will needed to address current issues. It is critical that action be taken soon to alleviate the mounting pressures in the current state of the world.

We, on our side, if invited, will speak to the cause of humanity's need to change. We have yet to fully understand how the human family will pull together and assemble their strengths in the time of calling to move forward to a better world. We have seen much come before and much fail that we knew not would falter.

We are always here to help, always here to guide and lend a hand, but this is a time when humanity must pull its own cards out and lay them on the table. It is the human family who must re-vision its own future with clearer hearts and minds. This must happen. I cannot stress the importance any louder.

It is up to human leaders and shapers of the future, in whatever field, to stand up and be counted based on their motives. If their ideas are for themselves and their own profit, then they had better look again, because the world is crumbling and they are the ones with the power, but not the will or the commitment, to make necessary changes, to say what must be said and to make themselves heard. This is most unfortunate, most unfortunate indeed.

We, on our side, have tried to set a nourishing atmosphere with those we had thought would respond to our words of truth. But humanity has failed itself through its representatives and we now know we must find another way: through the heart of humanity, not the minds.

Words are not enough to save you from irreparable self-destruction or destruction of the planet that gives you life. Actions must be taken and they need to be taken now – by you who are the leaders, not by us. If you act, we will be advisors and guides. There should be no delay in actions to redress wrongs that humanity has cast against itself and the other kingdoms that reside on planet Earth. The plant and animal kingdoms are suffering because of humanity's reasoning process, as are the mineral kingdom, the waters and the atmosphere. All are suffering together for nought. The attacks on other kingdoms must ease off, for the crack will burst on the dam soon and the damage will be irreversible.

Please do not think we exaggerate, for we do not. It is you in the human family who must listen and you who must act – and by “you” I mean every single elected official, every single head of a corporation, every single scientific research organization, every school board, every single board of every single professional organization – you, the shapers and leaders of humanity. I repeat: the dam is about to crack. Hear this and know it to be true. Only you can prevent disaster.

You, the human family on this planet, fail to see your own actions as cause and effect on a grand scale and this is a complete and total mystery to me. History has provided you with clear, detailed examples of the outcomes of your ill-considered actions. Yet, the wheel just seems to keep turning along the same rut.

I lay before you what we face from our side and the perplexity we feel that you are unable to see what is happening, unable to see what history has taught, unable to see the destruction you are inflicting upon the earth, the animal kingdom. But you can't even see what you are inflicting upon yourselves. This is difficult for us to understand because it is so very, very blatant.

Our hope is that we will reach your hearts, your innermost hearts where your souls reside. And those whose hearts we must reach first are indeed the ones who have the power to shape and change your direction, the power to move you out of the self-perpetuating rut.

We hope to see improvements in your understanding, improvements in how you treat each other and how you treat other kingdoms. Sometimes it looks to us as if each person thinks they are the center of the universe and if they look after their own needs, all will be well. There are so few of you who truly raise your eyes to the horizon and see the needs of the whole. This must change.

Our hope is that we can connect effectively with those who can and will make a difference because they can and will listen to what we have to say, look at the horizon and know in their hearts, for the benefit of the whole, it is they who can lead the change and reshape the future. Our hope is that they will listen to us and listen to the ways in which we can guide them, because of what we know, what we have experienced and what we can see from our perspective.

Our hope is in humanity's willingness to listen to us. Yet the ones we have tried to reach have very closed ears. Sometimes I think their perspective does not extend beyond the mirror. They are the ones who have found power, created the power or taken the power and they are the ones who need to listen right now, today.

Some members of humanity are indeed reaching for the stars and making necessary inroads evident, but so many of you still lag behind, lost in old destructive patterns, driven by raging egos and selfish needs. The outcome is always distress when those qualities drive the actions taken. This must be understood because of all it implies about your future.

So we wait. We wait to see what will happen when the calling crashes in, the call to move forward to a better world, a call that far too few are prepared to answer.

We will continue to work from our side. This is true. However, we find ourselves forced to take steps we never imagined we would have to take in order to reach the hearts of humanity's leadership in such a way that they will open both hearts and ears and be willing to listen. We can offer them the wisdom of experience and a better, more comprehensive perspective of the future than they are capable of envisioning for themselves. Yet they are not willing to listen.

How bad do things have to get before people begin to care about one another?

There is a calling coming, it is a calling forth of those who can see that humanity is One ... and what happens to one happens to all. You have not yet realized that every single one of you is holding on to the very same rope. If one of you is shoved aside, the rope breaks and all plunge to the ground. This is not yet seen by many members of the human family. And inability to see this has the potential of disaster.

I would ask you, our readers, to be aware of the situation. I would ask you to raise your eyes above your daily issues and look at the political leaders, the economic leaders, leaders in every area. Raise your eyes and see the decisions that are being made. I would ask you to be creative with your ideas, your networks, the back doors to power that you know.

If there is something you can do, preferably in groups, to help us open the hearts, the minds, the eyes and the ears of your leaders, please take the necessary steps.

It is your leaders we must reach, leaders in many, many fields, because it is the leadership who can make sharp, necessary changes. In any way you can, help us reach these leaders and encourage them to stop looking in the mirror and start looking at the world. If it is possible, help your leaders to know about us and be willing to read the articles and see the videos that have come from WeSeekToServe and other reliable sources.

I would have you be creative, from whatever position you have, about what can be done to open the hearts and the minds and the eyes and the ears of leadership. Help us get your leadership's attention so that they will listen to the messages that we have been giving ... and the messages that we could give if they would get together and listen to us.

Be aware of ideas that are coming from innovators who are not currently in power. Listen to the new ideas and value them for their scope and caring and heart. Do not cast them aside for their failure to maintain the perceived worth of the status quo. It is those ideas for reform – economic, political, scientific, religious and other reform – that will move humanity forward. Support these innovators energetically and in any way that is appropriate to you and your lifestyle.

Beyond that, take care of your own lives and your own environment by filling both with as much light and love as possible. Have that light and love flow into the network that binds the human family together and from there it will be distributed.

We have not yet lost all hope. What we need are your hopeful ideas, ideas that are spoken loudly and listened to. Those who block and censure to maintain their position must move aside. It is time to listen – listen to the new, inclusive, global ideas that spring forth from those we are able to reach and encourage.

We will keep changing our plans and continue to wait until the right people begin to listen. We don't want that to be too late.

Thank you.

Maitreya *
