Working With Energy Environments

Sho

I have much that I would share with so many different groups among the human family of Earth that it is difficult to imagine I will be doing anything other than speaking with group-group-group-group-group, one group after another. Yet all this must wait its proper timing. Our first work is with leaders in key centers of power.

One of the things that I would like to share primarily is my pleasure at being among the first of the Earth Advisors who have come forth in this particular epoch as it were, with this particular team. This team will be expanding, there is no doubt about that.

As soon as it is feasible, I would like a chance to begin work with groups on the physical plane and work with groups on the inner plane, work with groups on the physical plane who are capable of also working together on the inner planes. But in addition to working together energetically to clear the trouble spots on this planet, I hope to work with those who are also capable of working together as educators. It is most effective to have one member of the human family explain to another member of the human family what is going on energetically in these troubled areas and what goes on energetically within the dynamics of the human relationships in a troubled area.

This is a science and this science can be articulated, explained and taught. The greater amount of information more people have about socio-energy, the more influence that knowledge will have on behavioral patterns ... and thus consciousness will expand. A metaphoric equivalent is that of a child who learns that they can be burned – burned fingers from a match or a burned hand from reaching for a pretty glowing red coal from the fire – once you learn the consequence, then it becomes easier to avoid. That is a simple analogy for harmful energy dynamics, but it holds true.

So with the consciousness expansion of the human family, those groups I work with will not only be working on the inner planes, they will be working on the outer planes as well, teaching, sharing, as much as possible in the steps necessary for assimilation, the great strength and dynamic of energy that is inherent in every human being.

You create your own energy environment. You contribute to the energy environment in your immediate area and beyond. I don't think that this is necessarily new information, at least I do not anticipate that it is new information to those of you who are regular readers of this website. But what I will say is that as you learn about energy and the energy that you control in creating your own environment, in creating the immediate environment, as you learn, I would pose that part of your responsibility is to teach.

And that teaching can be an example, it can be a brief explanation, it can be something that seems very, very small and insignificant. But the more you know about the impact each individual has, and the impact a group of individuals has and the more you share that knowledge in whatever vernacular is effective, the more you are aiding the entire of humanity. And that is what I would ask you to do.

The more you understand, please share what you understand, what you know, and be open to learning more. For with this knowledge about energy and the energy environment that you are creating for yourselves and around you and with the groups you work with, the more you are reaching the heart of humanity and the more readily will be accepted and understood the vision of the next civilization, where I would anticipate managing your personal energy signature is as much a part of your education as is physical hygiene and brushing your teeth.

Become a student. Become a teacher. You may be doing work in a totally unrelated area ... so you think. But you see, the energy you bring and anchor in whatever area you are working in, wherever you are, whatever you are doing, the energy you bring and anchor is affecting humanity. Be a good teacher. Be a good student.

I would have each of you, when you can remember, as often as you can remember, be aware of your own energy profile and be aware of the energy profile you are entering, you are working in and you are leaving. The more awareness you have, the more sensitivity you develop, the more you will be open to learning new techniques and the more you will become an effective teacher of others. You learn from everyone, you teach everyone. This is a nice reciprocal relationship and sometimes it is simply necessary to open your mind way up and go do something totally new. Digest it, use it and pass it on. And we who have the PhD or the double PhD in energy work will be more than happy to assist you.

Energy environments will be a substantial component of the new civilization. The more you learn now, the more you will contribute to the final vision of the new civilization and the more you will influence the building of that civilization.

I thank you.
