Dear Readers,

It has been many decades since I have been actively teaching. All those years ago, I gave out volumes of very deep, cosmic teachings through the one known as Alice A. Bailey. Now, many of you reading this might not have heard of her. Then please accept my word that it has been very nearly 100 years since I have been actively presenting cosmic teachings to the human family.

In that timeframe, as a family you have grown. The times are troubled. This is true. But you have grown to the degree that you have many among you, you readers undoubtedly part of them, who have the heart and the soul contact that connects to the light. You have the strength to remain calm in the midst of chaos, to understand that there are cosmic forces, to understand that there is light beyond that which you see with your naked eye. You know that we in the Community of Spiritual Masters exist.

Now we come forward once again in order to explain much to you of these new generations. Many of you may be old souls but still you are anchored in this timeframe and in the dense physical. It is time to explain to you in today's terms the basis of the cosmic teachings that were given to the human family so long ago because you as a family have grown. You have reached the point where that which was inappropriate to explain in the context of the teachings of the time is now something that I can discuss. I can build on what teachings went forward in the century past.

When I taught all those decades ago, there were very few who had the concept of the astral plane. Even fewer had the concept of Masters or Ascended Masters. Virtually no one had the concept of initiations. And yet all these concepts of light, of love, of who we are in the Community ... those concepts are now spread more broadly and it is time to expand upon earlier teachings.

It is time to bring forward teachings for those of you in the 21st century. Whether or not you are familiar with the original teachings, you are ready to hear and read and learn what would have been difficult and inappropriate to explain in detail 90+ years ago.

And today I have another through whom I can bring this information. That will be my participation in the advanced communication that is appropriate now in the 21st century.

We in the Community have seen humanity grow and we are now prepared to bring forward the core teachings. The core does not change. But useful and appropriate presentation changes with the times and with the spiritual growth of the human family. Today, we are committed to bringing forward the core teachings with a presentation that is appropriate to those of this century and to use the means of communication that are appropriate to the souls of this century.

When I first taught, television was not even a reality let alone a presence throughout the entire globe. And now we have television at our disposal as a means of communication. We have the Internet, satellites and mobile phones. None of this was available when I first taught.

Human consciousness has expanded greatly. We in the Community are now ready to respond to these advances and bring forward new presentations of the core teachings. We are prepared to clarify issues, statements and presentations that were deliberately vague or even misleading because the human family was not ready. And now you are ready for more.

You are ready for corrected information, clarified information and new information as well. This will be coming through and we will be using 21st century means of communication, electronic books for example, that simply were not available to those of us who committed all those years ago to bring cosmic teachings to the human family of Earth.

The time is now. And we are stepping up to the plate. This presentation marks a beginning of a new line of communication that will reinforce our partnership with humanity. We are most excited as it unfolds and is realized.

Thank you.

Events in the human family are moving at a dramatic speed these days. Every day, many are the terrible events that you can watch on the news and many more are those occurring that do not make the news. Everything seems to be turning into a whirlpool against which you cannot fight in the midst of this growing sea of catastrophes and disasters.

We can see further, we can see and feel the vibration of the human family increasing at a dramatic speed as well. Not of all the human family but that of many of its members that are crucial to the change that the human family needs today. In this change that Earth needs now, that increase in the frequency of vibration is making possible your collaboration with us, the Off-Earth Allies and the Community of Spiritual Masters, allowing it to be ever more intense, more fluid and much easier.

Our worlds, our dimensions are getting closer and this fills with great happiness all of us who are collaborating to help the human family come out of this dire situation. Nowadays, communication with the lightworkers is much easier. We can communicate our wishes, our plans, our hopes but also our knowledge, ideas, suggestions and hints that may help different members of this family to discover things that can improve the life of humanity. To our joy, this is true.

For a long time, you have been asking that we come and help you and here we are, ready and available. Ready to accomplish whatever is necessary so that our wisdom and knowledge can be made accessible to the whole of humanity, and available to share our experience, our knowledge and our help.

Nowadays, we act and work through certain channels, persons with whom we can easily connect because their vibration is very high. These persons help us transmit our knowledge and the teachings that we have for you. These persons must be listened to, for what they channel is not their creation or their imagination but our transmission, and it is done to favor the progress of the human family.

At the point where we are now, the increase in the frequency of these persons is such that we can easily reach an almost physical, almost material communication with them. It is our desire for the future that the vibration of the human family increase in such a way that it makes it possible for us to walk among you, teaching and sharing our experience. That is our hope and we are working toward that purpose. We don't know how long it will take for this to occur. It does not depend on our wishes only, it also depends on humanity wishing to receive what we can share with you.

We keep working full of hope and we keep collaborating with these lightworkers all through the planet. We are grateful for their dedication, their effort and their commitment to the divine plan for humanity. We are a team and we feel proud of this.

I hope this news is agreeable to you and that each and every one of you contribute your small grain of heightened vibration so that this plan not be a dream but a possible and materialized reality.

Thank you for your interest.

Dear Readers:

Amid the current distress, many are those calling upon our presence and we would gladly walk among you. I wonder however how many of you have ever considered what a momentous challenge this is for us to undertake and orchestrate from beyond the veil.

It should not surprise you that long have we been preparing for this longed-for reunion but at the same time, we must proceed with extreme caution – extreme caution – to not exacerbate the current world tensions and tip the scales against our smooth re-entry. There is too much at stake. We must and do operate under strict cosmic law, creating the least fear and panic among those who are unaware, ill-prepared or even hoodwinked as to our advent.

Many are those who would have us scorned and rejected in order that they might continue in their current means of privilege, but have you considered even the very basic difficulties we face in coming forward? First there is the donning of an actual physical form and the vast energetic output that takes to sustain. We emerge into a world of noise and pollution, with many entrenched practices that are an affront to the laws of nature.

We have ever been mindful of your emotional and spiritual anguish, your needs and wants as well as your birthright. These things we understand fully and to the core. And yet now, from our vantage point of group consciousness as your elders in the Community, once we expend the energy to sustain a physical form, we must even once again learn to speak using physical voices.

The ramifications surrounding our coming are endless, brothers and sisters of old, but we know them well. There are massive changes that are needed. We have been working from behind the veil and there are those among you who are working on your side of the veil. We need to unite our efforts.

It is our role to be teachers, advisors and guides. We have long since stepped willingly into that role. It is our responsibility and we address it openly, with commitment and respect for those who are already working to bring more light in unity to those incarnating on Earth. We tread as swiftly and as deftly as we can to walk openly among you once more. Of this you can be sure.

Know your worth as our partners in reuniting those of us from the Community with those of you who are incarnating. Know your worth in returning us as one family in unity to a path of justice in all of its aspects for all souls in the human family of Earth. And that includes us.

Keep up your efforts to bring light into the world, for that hastens our pace. Care for one another as we care for you, and sow seeds of trust with which we can the quicker step together, as one family, onto a joint path of consciousness expansion and justice on the journey of return to Source.
