A Word From The Panelist Group ...

Greetings, dear Readers:

In this issue, we introduce a new feature, in that we will begin delivering our messages in three distinct categories:

Inspiration And Encouragement – information and support for both individual and group spiritual journeys

Growth And Awareness – thought-provoking information and perspectives for expanding the consciousness of individuals as well as groups of all sizes, up to and including the entire human family

Challenges Facing The Human Family – acknowledgment of past, current and future difficulties, along with a clear plain and urgent call to action

You will find a detailed explanation of these message categories and our reasons for introducing them on the home page. Suffice it to point out here that although some messages are easier to read on the surface, all three categories are important. Taken seriously, they all challenge each and every reader to participate in the process of truly uniting the human family.

This pressing need for unification is becoming ever more crucial, for the events that we, the Community of Spiritual Masters and the Off-Earth Allies have been expecting and fearing for so long are now happening. The levels of chaos and darkness on Earth are rising as the vibrations of the planet itself, the human family and the other kingdoms on the planet rise. This increase in vibration stirs up the chaos and darkness that have settled on the planet for so, so long – eons – becoming part of the structure of the Earth's crust.

The increased vibration is breaking up this structure, which has a life of its own, shaking up the negativities embedded in the crust, making them spring up and radiate into everything that lies on top and consequently, affecting the human family and the energy grid that surrounds it. In order to understand the violence you are living in, you need to be aware of this rise in vibration and of the cleansing effect it is creating.

There is yet much for you to see and experience before this process is over. Do not be afraid, for it is the means to cleanse, purify and renew the energies of mankind. It is important that people have an explanation they can cling to, an explanation that ties what they understand at one level – the “science” – to what they know at another level – “the spiritual” – and all this is an energetic connection. The energetic connection must become clear.

So, the topic we want to speak on this month is related to stirring up negativity, making it spring up and cleansing all of it from the face of Earth: "Shaking and cleansing to move forward and renew."

Once this is done, hopefully with our help if you request it, you will have room for positivity, for love, for a stunning and intense rise in the light and vibration of each and every member of the human family as well as those of the other kingdoms on planet Earth and of the planet itself.

Many thanks,

This month's panelists

Category: Challenges Facing The Human Family

Once more, my dear friends, we deal with the matter of the pervasive chaos in which the human family of the Earth dwells. The message is nothing new. We've dealt with this previously in our messages and, of course, all of you notice – since you are experiencing upheaval personally, in your daily lives – this growing and shocking state of chaos, of darkness, of instability. With astonished eyes you look around you, everywhere seeing violence, corruption, all manner of disasters, human tragedies in short, and a penetrating feeling of impotence comes over you. You feel hopeless, not knowing what to do, what has to be changed in the face of such magnitude.

I sincerely believe that the conviction things have to change is becoming more and more entrenched in your hearts. That makes sense. Unfortunately, given decisions made and followed at every turning opportunity along the way, the chaos will now have to grow so much worse that humanity touches rock bottom and people finally, finally, open their eyes, open their hearts and unite to bring about change.

In spite of all that's happening, in spite of all that is daily exacerbating the situation in any part of the planet, there still is no unity, no glimmer of understanding that all of you are brothers and equals, which will lead you to change. You are paralyzed with disbelief. You feel powerless in the face of the magnitude of atrocities being committed, you are frustrated and confused.

How long can this last? Until when will you gaze with indifference upon the images that come from all over, of immigrants, your brothers, beaten, retained, hungry and cold, suffering physical, emotional, psychological and spiritual calamities? How long will you let this continue?

Humanity seems intent on self-destruction one more time. Finally, and after many centuries, eons of time, this bent for virtual suicide has surged once more and the human family has fallen into the same errors and vices that in Atlantis destroyed what could have been physical, emotional, psychological and spiritual progress. But there are no more chances, and time is running out. Please, do not ignore our warnings, do not have them fall on deaf ears. Time is running out.

You ask what you can do, you from your private, demanding life. At this point, it is you, from that private life you lead that we are depending upon. We ask that you review your personal priorities and find a few minutes each day to devote to the survival of all humanity.

It is necessary that the spark of light in your heart, that which connects you directly with your soul, be rekindled, so it can grow and burst to say, "Enough! Enough!" Say it now, so that you can start to move and take those steps forward that each and every one of you has to take, by yourselves and together. By yourself, say, "I don't want this anymore!" And together, join with all those who think the same and are demanding change. Individually and better yet together, ask for our help so that we can guide you and help you clean up the negativity and the dark energies that surround you. Both will give way to light, joy, compassion and brotherhood. Please believe that. But it is up to you to take those moments to rekindle the light in your heart.

In order to clean up the contamination surrounding all but a few sacred places remaining on this planet, you have to take action. Don't delay this step any longer. Don't let indifference end the human family on Earth in needless self-destruction. Indifference, lack of concern, fear – all of these are paralyzing energies. And when the whole planet becomes paralyzed, then what?

The longer this inaction, this lack of a unified decision to move forward as One goes on, the deeper you will be mired in the dark and paralyzing energies you are creating and the more difficult it will be for us to help you.

Seek the light in your heart and let that light shine. As we always tell you, send love and light into the network that binds the human family together and, please, repeat the plea for help we have given you, repeat it daily and disseminate it. Let hope soak deep into your hearts and encourage you to move, to escape your current plight.

We are still waiting. We wait in hope.

Thank you.

Humanity is in for some surprises in the next days, surprises that would do best if there were a level of understanding offered to keep fear from rising. New news often has an effect on its recipients of causing discomfort and discord, but this would only add to the problem. We urge for solutions and the solving of age-old issues.

My friends, much is to be said about keeping a calming tone in a world where many negative actions are taking place. Be the one who calms others' fears and offers understanding into the cleansing taking place of the air and atmosphere, the Earth's crust and mountains.

The Earth is sacred vessel for humanity, a sacred vessel of life, life for humanity and every kingdom humanity interacts with. Yet the Earth, the source and sustainer of this life, has been pillaged and poisoned by humanity's past and present actions. The Earth has held many negative and dark energies that these actions instill.

Now, as the Earth transforms, it is shaking off these negative energies so that it can raise its energy. These negative energies are affecting the living space of humanity and just as humanity has affected the Earth, these energies are bouncing back to affect humanity in negative ways.

But you can choose how to bear these energies and not allow them to poison your thoughts. Stand in the light and help shatter the negative energy and let the light burst forth. Know that the darkest moments will show themselves to you before the lightest can emerge.

Much news will come to your ears that will anger and incite you. Do not be swayed to add to the dark, but practice "light action." In knowing that these days will be a process that will serve to cleanse the darkness, make your actions those of the light and support the smooth transition of this process.

We highly encourage you to ask for our support and guidance in making decisions with high-bearing effect. Check your thoughts and actions before leaping. Make choices that bring more light to bear. You will feel the difference.

Much action is being taken on our side to facilitate this cleansing process, to help ameliorate the shuffle of dark to light, for this is what is happening on a universal level. All is affected by this transformation and all can serve to speed the process along to a faster end.

We stand vigilant to aid each and every one of you in remaining above the chaos, being hopeful and proactive to support the rising energies. Our hope is infectious and thus we hope you can continue to focus on living in the light and holding high the torch.

Thank you.

My dear brothers and sisters, for that is what you are to us – our family of Earth,

We, your Off-Earth Allies, look on in this time of painful transformation for you, at the chaos and suffering growing seemingly worse each day, at the splintering and fragmentation of all that you hold dear, including the very crust of your Earth. You have in many ways brought this crisis upon yourselves in your arrogance, your self-righteousness, your self-imposed blindness, your greed and your squandering of the Earth's bounty. Much is firmly locked now, not only in your settlement camps and your prisons, but also in your hidden vaults and storehouses, and most of all, in the paralyzed minds of so many of you.

Worse is yet to come, but this crisis can be a healing crisis if you make it so, if you shape it so. All acts of rebuilding start with demolition, and there is much in your institutions and in your worldviews that is ready to be swept away and, in the process, to be refashioned.

Do not obstruct the flow of progress but rather, seize and ride it like the great wave of renewal that it is. Awareness is quickly growing in the human family that changes must come and the deliberate intent to see it through is also forming in widening pockets throughout the world. Watch for such friends.

Do not repeat the mistakes of your past that caused previous civilizations to vanish. Understand that the cleansing process that you are going through and which seems so violent is inevitable, but it is, and it can be, a healing crisis. Do not let this window of opportunity close upon you. Band together and clean house quickly. The time is short and the stakes are high.

Many are your Off-Earth Allies watching closely as you grapple with the escalating chaos. Our civilizations have experienced similar growing pains on our home worlds in eons past, and we emerged victorious just as you may do now. How? Through growing awareness leading to mutual trust and respect, and ultimately by forging and demonstrating Oneness. On most of our worlds, it was not an easy transition, and it took some time for all to catch up, but we managed in the end, and so can you.

We have many tried and tested procedures to place at your service, much wisdom we can share today and many practical tools we can offer after humanity has shifted direction and can be trusted.

So how can you clear away the haze and debris that are blinding you now? How do you become more aware? First of all, by paying attention – attention to what is going on around you, in your institutions as much as the news, and attention to what is going on within. Can you find and rekindle your Heart Spark, your indestructible and unavoidable connection to every other member of the human family on Earth? The same Heart Spark that is your inalienable connection to Source? Every member of the human family is connected to you ... and every member of the human family is as inalienably connected to Source as you are. Can you become that aware? And share that awareness?

We cannot impose our gifts, we cannot solve your problems for you. Know that we stand concerned, but also vigilant and ready to help you move forward into the light. You can ask for our help.

Your loving brother, Derisum

Dear Reader,

My colleagues have spoken eloquently of the purification process occurring now on Mother Earth. They have explained how deep layers of encrusted negativity need to be broken up before they can be swept away, bringing darkness to the surface so that it can dissolve into light.

Human consciousness and the psyche of the human race are being much affected by this necessary upheaval. Just as the Earth shudders and shakes and erupts into flame or flood with the rising tide of vibration, so too are the minds of humans quaking. Their thought-forms jangle and collide. As a result, startling changes erupt seemingly out of nowhere on the news, sometimes for the better but usually as a shock regardless. But then more huge shifts occur the next day or the next week and people are jostled relentlessly. No one is immune as change pushes forward at an ever-escalating pace.

But as that pace quickens, there is more and more unquiet surrounding this planet, more planetary noise. As well, a thick haze of negative emotion is now occluding the path. Humanity, for all intents and purposes, is stranded at a vital crossroads without a compass or a map. At the same time, so violent is the clash of thought currents as the darkness surfaces and so blatant are the transgressions coming to light in human society that more and more people are waking up, as must happen.

Believe me when I tell you that an awakening is occurring somewhere in the world in every minute of every hour and across all boundaries of class, nationality, gender and the like. The mysterious quality of intuition is stirring and this steady awakening, just as relentless as the pace of necessary change, is infusing new life into the mind belt that surrounds this globe. People are ready for change and ready to risk all, so expect many more surprises and disruptions. The old forms no longer apply.

Like a glimmer of light at the end of a very long tunnel, human awareness is rising along with the Earth's vibration. There have been many similar periods in the planet's long history and once again, a new consciousness is breaking out. People everywhere are clamoring for a safer, saner, peaceful world. Will you stand and be counted? Will you help create that brave new world for the one human family?

Know that you have friends and allies ready to share the task. There are lightworkers all around you striving to bring order out of chaos. They live on your street, every street, on the net. They work in every field But you need to leave whatever comfortable situation you have created for yourself, especially apathy or despair, and join together.

Step up to the plate though society would strive to isolate you. Recognize that you count, that you belong to one large planetary family and that you can band together to dispel the darkness. Play your unique part, each and every waking one of you, and begin to understand the sheer power that unity confers.

Know too that you have elder brothers and sisters throughout Cosmos who care deeply for you and for this, your Earth. Our help and counsel are available, as ever, to help speed your journey into the greater light.

Friends,

We truly recognize the world situation at present as an opportunity for humanity to understand its past actions, or the results thereof, and realize that these consequences are here now to haunt your existence on their way out of the story. This is how it happens with all things in life. All things. Humanity is suffering from its past cause and effect but this will be part of its salvation ultimately.

It can be difficult to understand just such a process, but look to any process in your life where something you did caused a domino effect of reactions. These must be looked at before the issue can be solved and vented. The colossal venting needed for the heaping mass of humanity's past actions is almost inconceivable. Yet despite this fact, the cleansing can and will deliver this process to a clear and clean end.

But it will take time and produce many sufferings as it works its way out. We ask humanity to perceive its past and bear this cleansing process in mind in considering how it reacts to what is currently happening. Any more negativity added to the already weighted life is what we wish to avoid.

We shoulder much along this journey of guiding humanity and even we need to have words of caution. Thus, I pass on these words of caution: humanity cannot bear anymore distraction and direction spent on retaliation and warfare. Humanity needs now to bear this passing, to bear this transgression and this shaping while the poisons of the past are extracted and neutralized.

The raising of life forces is a mysterious and complicated process. In bringing light to the world, it also "makes light" of darkness and brings it into focus. This darkness is burned by the light, highlighted by the light, borne to expansion by the light, just as a broom, while sweeping the debris off a floor (to have the final result of clearing and cleaning) raises a cloud of clogging dust that one must walk through and deal with first.

We have seen many duties changed and affected by this cloud of dust and its poisonous and negative haze. Humanity needs to wash this haze from its face and system as soon as possible, keeping hope alive so that it may break through the negative effects and ultimately reach up to the area of sun and light.

Many metaphors are applicable, but I feel that the point has been made. Humanity must suffer the cloud of dust in the interim, for this is part of the process and it cannot be avoided. Yet it does not need to worsen and we as your guides offer this very suggestion in hopes that those of you with whom this registers will take the time to heed this and deal cautiously when feeling lost or reactionary to what you see happening around the world.

Each day brings new news and new opportunities to either react to or to understand and take action instead towards this cleaning and clearing. It's your choice. Start with your own personal affairs, your office affairs, your family affairs and spread this well-calculated response onward.

Do not give up hope and descend into despair. There is a natural plan and it is in natural process. We feel that in our informing you, you will have a chance to operate with positive change and speed up the clearing process.

Godspeed, my friends.

Yeshua

Category: Inspiration And Encouragement

My dear Readers,

It is a pleasure to address you once more. I want my message to be a message of inspiration, of encouragement, to fight the despondency that is slowly overtaking humanity. Despondency is a paralyzing force, and you mustn't fall into the trap of inaction as you watch this climax build, foreshadowing a dire outcome.

You don't believe you possess sufficient strength and power to change the situation. Ah! My friends, there you are wrong! The power lies within you, the power of good is there, as is also the power of evil. Each of us has to decide from which power we want to act. The immense majority of the human family wish to act on the side of good to change the situation and, though it may seem hard to believe, the power of good is much stronger than that of evil. Infinitely stronger.

If each and every one of you connects with your soul and asks, first individually and then with those who surround you, for help to feel and above all take action using this power of good, something will begin to shift. If you band together, first a few, then a few more, determined to exercise that power to do good, which is yours alone, something will begin to change. It is that power which will banish the negativity embedded now on Earth. Before its might, the atomic particles of darkness, of negativity, break up, disintegrate and scatter. When they break up and separate, they are easier to eliminate.

The power of good, which is yours to choose, is the best way to make all dark things surface to be dispersed by the winds of change. Change is not impossible. It is slow. It takes time for people to mobilize and join together and the ability to collaborate is not a strong point of the human family, but coming together is not impossible, it can be done, you can do it. In unity and from the power of good in your hearts, you can cleanse this Earth and the energy grid full of negativity and darkness that surrounds her. You can dissolve this tangled mess of chaos.

It's a matter of will, of wanting to do it, of making the decision and consciously working to dissolve the darkness. You can do it individually and you can do it in groups. Concentrate on the power of good inside yourselves. Extend and radiate your brightest energy, direct and apply it to that cleansing and clearing of darkness. Do it in groups or by yourselves, but please do it. EVERY DAY.

From the plane where we reside, we are also working in a different way to dispel the darkness and chaos. All together we can do it. Start now, as you are reading this. Ask for our help, as each and every one of us tells you to do. Ask for our help to guide and help you to dissolve this negativity. This will foster the lightening of the energies that surround you and allow our help to reach you more easily. Don't fail to do this every day, as we do.

Let it be a job done in tandem, since strength comes in numbers.

My blessings,

Quan Yin*
